Things Change, Charlie —

PARIS, France—Well, Charlie, I did just what you asked me to do. I found Charmaine. I walked right down the Rue Saint Honore until I found that number and I hunted around upstairs and found the name on a brass plate on the apartment door. Sure enough, like you said, the French don't move much.

She's older, Charlie. You know you told me to be sure and look her up and say hello for you. That she was as cute as a little red wagon. Well, Charlie, she is a little older. You know what I mean. After all, it's been a few years since you were in Paris.

Yes, the cafe is still on the corner. They still put out the little tables and chairs. Fact is, Charmaine and I sat and talked about you.

You remember that day you went out to the Bois and took a basket and had a picnic? You never told me about that. I'm sorry to tell you, but at first she didn't remember you. 'Charlee,' she said. 'Let me see, Charlee. I theenk I remember heem.' So she went and got a box of snapshots. They weren't all of you. How many times did you have liberty? From what you told me, I thought this Charmaine lived only for you.

Pictures

Well, anyhow, we sorted through a lot of pictures and at last we found yours. Gee, you looked a bit funny, Charlie. You looked young yourself, and I never would have known Charmaine was the same girl. She's fattened up some, Charlie. I remember how you used to tell me about her and say she wasn't any bigger than a minute. Well, Charlie, she's about 10 minutes now.

Where were we? Oh, yes, out in the Bois. I mean, looking at pictures of the picnic out in the Bois.

My, you were funny, Charlie! There was one picture where you were holding your head back and Charmaine was pouring wine into your mouth out of one of those long bottles. I had a great laugh over that.

I told her you had not forgotten her and this seemed to please her. She even dug up an old letter you'd written her. Your French was terrific, being mostly English and a few French words—all misspelled.

She asked about you. And, say, come to think of it, you don't look so blithe and gay and debonair any more. You've changed some. I think Charmaine may have changed less than you. She said you always were the life of the party. She told me about the time you hired a cab and insisted on riding the horse. I told her that while you may have been able to stay in there and punish a bottle of Three-Star in those days, you now get silly and try to sing after the second martini.

The Daughter

The years get on, Charlie. And Charmaine is married and has a daughter who is about as big as a minute and as pretty as a picture. She had a look at the pictures and said, 'Did that funny-looking man call on you, Mama?' Romance, Charlie, can take a lot of belting around in just a few years.

That salad you told me about? It hasn't changed a bit. And the veal cooked with mushrooms and a special sauce? Great. Just like you said. The snails are good, too. And the French like to tell how they fooled the Germans during the occupation. They would cut up horse meat into small strips, curl it up and stuff it in the shells. The sauce was good, and the Nazi officers never knew the difference.

None of that has changed, Charlie. But other things have. France has changed. And so has Paris. I guess the whole world has changed, Charlie. And to many of us it is not for the better. After seeing the pictures and the look on your face when you were out in the Bois, I didn't look up Marie, as Al had asked. It made me sad, Charlie. There is no use going around stirring up old ghosts. You keep your memories. They are better. So let it be, Charlie, and explain it to Al.

Dixie Chiefs Hit Kennedy As Turncoat

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The words "incredible" and "ominous" were used Friday to describe a statement attributed to Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) that he hopes to win the Democratic presidential nomination "without a single Southern vote."

The New York Times said Friday morning in a story also published in The Constitution, that Kennedy had made such a declaration to the Liberal Party in New York Thursday as he sought their support.

JOHNSON FORCES BLAST

Campaign headquarters here for Senate Majority Leader Johnson, an unannounced candidate, lost no time in blasting Kennedy for allegedly turning his back on the South.

Oscar Chapman, chairman of the Citizens for Johnson National Committee, promptly termed the Kennedy statement "incredible."

And Georgia's Sen. Talmadge said he thought it was "a very ominous statement."

RUSSELL IS CAUSTIC

Sen. Russell had some caustic comment.

"If the senator was correctly quoted," Russell said, "I imagine that the self-respecting delegates from the Southern states will do their best to see that if he does win it will be without Southern votes."

Citing several recent instances in which Kennedy or his brothers have been wooing Southern delegates, Chapman noted that nine Southern states gave Kennedy 249½ votes of the 589 he received for the vice presidential nomination in 1956.

NEEDLING IMPLICATION

After this needling implication that Kennedy is ungrateful for his 1956 Southern support, Chapman made it clear his own man, Johnson, would welcome Dixie votes.

"Those of us who support Sen. Johnson for the presidency want the votes of every section of America and every segment of its people," Chapman declared.

"The man who is going to be

Moscow Mayor Hit By Egg in Ontario

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (UP)—The mayor of Moscow, Soviet Union, was splattered by an egg Friday as he posed in front of a restaurant here with two Canadian mayors and television actor Hugh O'Brian.

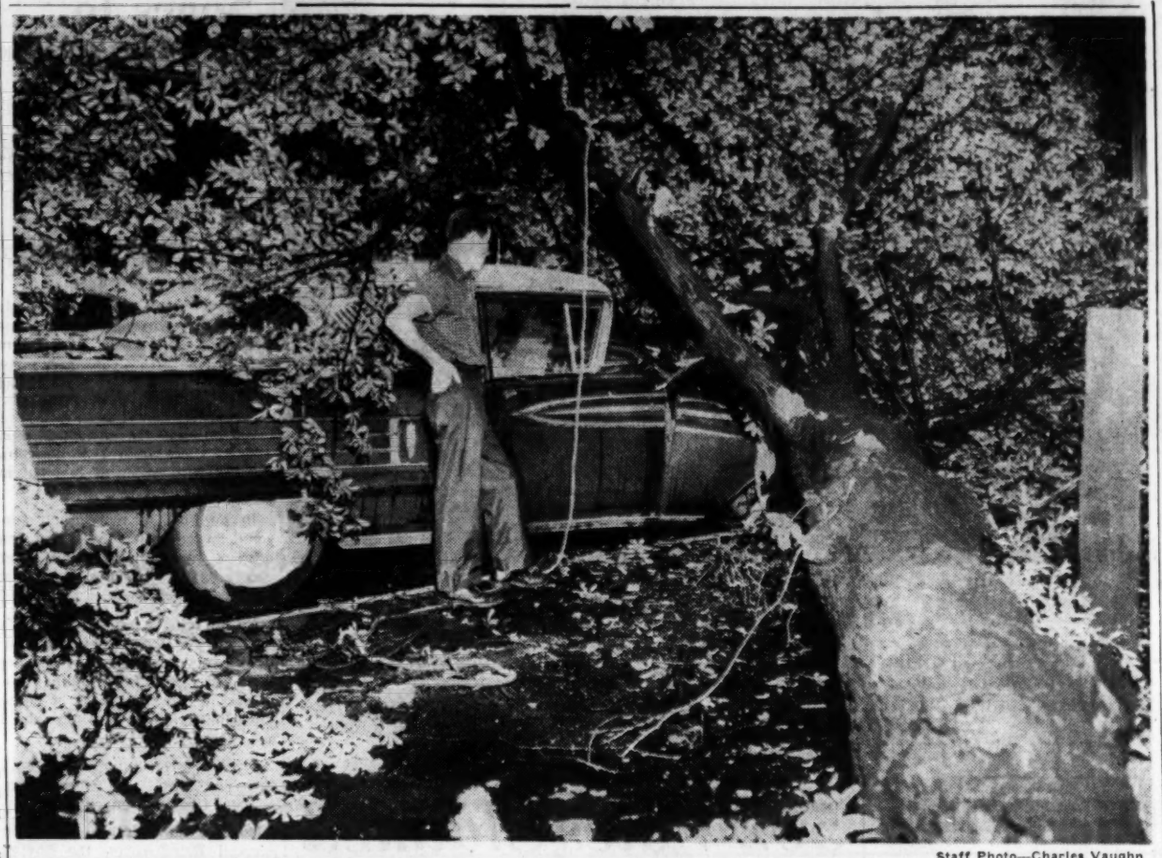

The Soviet mayor, Nikoli Bobrovnikov, is on a goodwill tour of Canada.

The egg struck Bobrovnikov on the neck and splattered on O'Brian.

Police captured the thrower, not identified.

There was no comment from the Russian.

Congressmen Attack Penetration in Cuba

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of Congress urged Friday that the Organization of American States act to prevent the Russians and Chinese from using Cuba as a beachhead for Communist penetration of the Western Hemisphere.

U.S. Information Agency chief George V. Allen told a House group the Soviet Union may be angling for military bases in this hemisphere.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) declared that Communist activity in Cuba poses the boldest challenge to hemisphere freedom that "we have known in 60 years."

Other senators applauded Keatings' speech and Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla) said there no longer can be any doubt that Cuba under Prime Minister Fidel Castro is in effect a Soviet satellite.

BEFORE IT'S TOO LATE

Rep. Paul C. Rodgers (D-Fla) said something must be done "before it is too late and we find a Russian satellite nation situated only 90 miles from our coast, infiltrating into all friendly governments of Central and South America."

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told his news conference the United States intends to present to the OAS Inter-American Peace Committee new evidence against the Castro regime. He indicated the step would be taken in August.

CREATING STRIFE

Other officials said the evidence will be aimed at showing Castro has been trying to create strife in the Caribbean region.

Allen, testifying before a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, said, "The Cuban revolution, with its extreme leftist overtones, has opened the door to increased Communist penetration of this hemisphere."

Allen suggested the Soviet Union —which long has smarted over U.S. bases ringing the Communist empire—may now have decided "two can play at this game and they can start operating in our backyard."

Allen did not say just where the Russians might try to plant a base, but the implication was he meant Cuba.

Keating's statement reported "a steady movement of Soviet engineers and technicians bound for the Caribbean through East Berlin; their main project to be construction of an airstrip on the southern coast of Cuba, with a 12,500-foot runway, near Matanzas."

The New York senator said the

Venezuela Chief Hurt In Bombing

By NAPOLEON MOGROVEJO

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—President Romulo Betancourt narrowly escaped death Friday from assassins' bombing which killed two persons and left the President and four others injured. Troops and tanks raced to his palace to forestall any possible coup.

The president was injured in the hand by bomb fragments. His military aide, Col. Ramon Arnaldo Armas Perez, was killed as was Luis Elipdio Rodriguez, 18, a civilian.

Defense Minister Gen. Josue Lopez Henriquez and his wife were injured seriously. The driver of Betancourt's car, Asabel Valero, also was injured.

An unidentified motorcyclist was injured critically.

Mrs. Betancourt was treated for shock.

The attempt to kill Betancourt came while he was en route to review a military parade on the Avenida de los Proceros, celebrating army day.

Authorities said the assassins apparently had planted a bomb in an abandoned car parked at the corner of Avenida de los Proceros detonating the missive from

Atlanta Gas Light Seeks Lower Rates

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—A spokesman for the Atlanta Gas Light Co. asked the Federal Power Commission Friday to roll back price increases put into effect by Southern Natural Gas Co.

Norman A. Flaningam of the Atlanta firm told the FPC his company wants to reduce gas costs to its customers but has been unable to do so because of Southern Natural's price boosts.

Southern Natural supplies gas to Atlanta Gas Light and two other Georgia distributors, both of which have been passing on the price increases to their customers.

A series of price rises have been put into effect by Southern Natural "under bond," a procedure allowed by the FPC unless the Commission finds the increase excessive.

On June 1, Southern Natural put into effect an increase of 8.3 per cent, under bond, designed to increase revenue by $7,756,000 a year. The Georgia Public Service Commission allowed Atlanta Gas Light to pass this boost on to its customers.

However, Southern Natural filed June 2 for another small increase and is seeking to put it into effect under bond.

Flaningam asked the FPC not to permit this and to roll back Southern Natural prices instead. He said that since April 15, 1958, Southern Natural has increased Atlanta Gas Light's costs 52.3 per cent.

American Attorneys For Powers Wait Visa

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—Three American attorneys are making plans to go to Russia to defend U2 pilot Francis Powers at his trial for spying, it was revealed Friday.

Two Virginia lawyers and one from the Columbia University law school met with officials in the Soviet embassy in Washington Thursday to apply for visas for their trip to Moscow.

Alex Parker of Richmond, one of the attorneys, said they told the first secretary to the Russian ambassador they desired to defend Powers, whose parents live near Pound, Va., during his trial on charges of conducting an espionage flight over Russia.

The Russian official gave no indication whether the visas will be granted, Parker said.

The three lawyers were named this week to represent Powers by the Virginia State Bar Assn. which said Powers' wife and parents had accepted the offer. The bar group said Powers "is a resident of Virginia and is involved in a legal situation unique in the history of the United States . . ."

In addition to Parker, John N. Hazard of the Columbia Law School faculty and Frank W. Rogers of Roanoke, were named to defend the pilot.

They conferred in Washington

Cooler Temperatures Expected To Follow Area's Thundershowers

Scattered showers and thundershowers are expected to rake across north Georgia again Saturday and Sunday, bringing cooler weather into Atlanta and vicinity.

Here's the way the weatherman forecasts the weekend:

Cloudy, cooler, with occasional showers with extremes of 70 and 88 degrees Saturday and 68 and 88 Sunday. Friday's extremes were 73 and 94.

Atlanta took it on the nose late Friday afternoon as a fierce thunderstorm battered the metropolitan area, stirring winds up to 40 miles an hour.

The storm caused a maze of traffic accidents, disrupted power in some sections of the city, and knocked down a number of trees.

Extra police were dispatched to untie the storm-created traffic knots, while city construction department crews worked overtime removing the falling debris.

State's Sheriffs Vote United Political Front

By BUDDY DAVIS
Constitution Staff Writer

ST. SIMONS—The Georgia Sheriffs' Assn., in an effort to consolidate its political power, Friday voted unanimously "to unite on all political issues, including candidates."

An association spokesman said, "I take it the sheriffs mean that each election they will as a group endorse and back particular candidates."

The resolution was adopted in a business meeting closed to the press, so motives and debates on the resolution were not made available.

But the association spokesman, charged with conveying the session's essence to reporters, remarked, "The sheriffs can become an awfully potent force if they carry this thing through."

The resolution appeared to come as something of an after-thought. With the sheriffs still in session, discussing the innocuous issue of the association's Boys Ranch, reporters were briefed on the association's actions up to that time. Then, later, a spokesman hunted up the press to reveal the decision to unite on political issues.

The association also declared that lawmen are unjustly accused of operating "speed traps" along tourist routes.

Tax Panel Shuns Provision To Scan Expense Accounts

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Senate-House conferees Friday junked a tax bill provision calling for an immediate crackdown on deductions for lavish business entertainment expenses. They called for a study of the problem first.

The conference committee also threw out an amendment which would have repealed a special tax benefit for big stockholders.

The group retained an amendment closing a court-approved loophole for the mining industry. The loophole could cost the Treasury a possible 600 million dollars a year.

All three proposals had been tacked onto an administration-backed 4 billion dollar tax extension measure by the Senate.

The main purpose of the bill is to prevent an automatic reduction June 30 in Korean War tax rates for corporation profits, new autos, cigarets, liquor, travel fares and local phone calls.

It now goes back to the House and Senate for final consideration.

In rejecting the immediate crackdown on business expense deductions, the House - Senate group voted instead to have the Treasury and congressional committee staffs conduct a joint study to see if such action is needed.

The Treasury had questioned whether the Senate amendment might not create more problems than it would solve. It said the proposal could be interpreted to bar business firms from claiming deductions for scholarship awards or for providing employe recreational facilities such as bowling alleys and golf courses.

As devised by the Senate, the provisions would have scotched deductions for business entertainment expenses except those for food and drink to advance a firm's trade, for gifts of more

The convention opens in Los Angeles July 11.

Reds at Geneva Threatening To Pull Away Till Ike's Out

GENEVA (AP)—The Communist bloc threatened Friday to break off the 10-nation disarmament talks until after President Eisenhower is out of office.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told the Western powers the Soviet bloc had shown "maximum patience" during the disarmament talks but warned "this marking time cannot last endlessly."

Several Soviet bloc officials, in an apparently concerted move to put propaganda pressure on the West, told newsmen they were now convinced nothing could come of the talks so long as Eisenhower remains in the White House. The Communist delegates refrained, however, from any such reference during the formal meeting.

Zorin accused the United States of using the conference as a screen for intensifying the arms race and of seeking unilateral military advantages. Zorin ignored the Washington trip of the U. S. chief delegate, Ambassador Frederick M. Eaton, to seek means of saving the stalemated conference.

As Eaton was flying back to Europe with a new western plan for a world disarmament treaty, Zorin declared: "The U. S. government did not prepare any new proposals on disarmament for the summit conference, nor does it have any new proposals now."

Zorin's blast was preceded by a rambling speech from Czech Deputy Foreign Minister Jiri Nosek who accused the Western delegations of "hypocrisy" and called the American delegation "double-faced."

British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore told the conference indignantly Nosek's "unsubstantiated charges" would not have been permitted in any Western parliament.

Khrushchev Meddling, Herter Says

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter Friday accused Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev of meddling in U.S. internal affairs by advising Americans on the choice of a President.

Herter also voiced confidence that Japan's basic good will and alignment with the West will continue despite the rioting over the new U.S.-Japanese treaty and cancellation of President Eisenhower's planned trip to Tokyo.

The secretary spoke of a real deep-seated difference between the Soviet Union and Red China over Communist ideology, though he said it is impossible at present to tell whether this will split the Communist bloc.

Speaking at his first news conference since the summit blowup and Eisenhower's Far Eastern trip, Herter took a moderately optimistic view of the nation's foreign affairs. He said America's alliances seem stronger than ever despite the U2 spy plane incident.

The question of Khrushchev's suggestions on the U.S. presidential election came up when a newsman asked whether it made any difference to the Communists which party wins in November.

Khrushchev, who has been making a big point of not dealing with Eisenhower any longer, has been advising U.S. voters to pick someone whom the Kremlin can do business with. The Soviet leader hasn't backed any particular candidate but has made especially plain his dislike of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the prospective Republican nominee.

Herter said Khrushchev's suggestion "comes to about as close as interference in the internal affairs of a country as anything I could describe."

Ship Rams, Sinks Vital Lightship

NEW YORK (AP)—An Ambrose lightship, guarding the perilous entrance to New York Harbor, was rammed and sunk in fog Friday by a freighter three times its size. The Coast Guard pressed one of its cutters into emergency service as a makeshift beacon at the busiest maritime gateway in the world.

All nine Coast Guard crew members of the lightship escaped the sinking vessel uninjured. They took to a life raft and were picked up by the freighter, the 6,100-ton Green Bay.

The freighter was not seriously damaged. As the lightship settled in 90 feet of water, the Green Bay poked searchlight rays through the fog to find the survivors.

It was the first time a lightship had been sunk here since they were posted at the entrance to the lower bay in 1822.

Here's How Candidates Spent Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This is what the presidential candidates did Friday:

Vice President Richard M. Nixon met with Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, and conferred with other individuals and groups; presided at opening of Senate.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) presided at Senate Labor subcommittee hearing, spoke at luncheon for African diplomatic corps, flew to Boston to spend the weekend at home at Hyannisport.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) performed usual duties as Senate majority leader; plans to be in Washington Saturday.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) attended Senate session. Plans Saturday to fly to Helena, Mont., for Montana state Democratic Convention.

502 Votes Claimed For Sen. Johnson

By JOHN D. MORRIS

(Copyright 1960 by the New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON—Sen. Johnson will go to the Democratic National Convention with at least 502 first-ballot votes, according to a report compiled by his campaign managers.

A Johnson campaign strategist, who made the state-by-state figures available to reporters Friday, predicted that the Texan would poll "considerably more than 600 votes" on the second ballot and win on the third.

He placed the first-ballot strength of Sen. Kennedy at 602½ votes and estimated that Kennedy would poll about 650 on the second ballot.

Kennedy forces have claimed up to 710 first-ballot votes. The nomination requires 761.

Release of the Johnson campaign organization's count of the candidates' present strength was one of several moves calculated to cast doubt on the widely held assumption that the Kennedy bandwagon had gained such momentum that it could not be stopped.

In another move, Oscar Chapman, chairman of the Citizens for Johnson Committee, chided Kennedy forces for over-estimating the Massachusetts senator's backing in the New York convention delegation. At a caucus of New York delegates Thursday, Kennedy polled 87 votes of 105½ cast. Kennedy spokesmen have been claiming as many as 110 of New York's 114 convention votes.

Kennedy Sees Sitdowns As Reviving U.S. Spirit

By ANTHONY LEWIS

(Copyright 1960 by the New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON—Sen. Kennedy praised the Negro sitdown demonstrations Friday as a sign that "the American spirit is coming alive again."

The senator called for "equal access to the voting booth, to the schoolroom, to jobs, to housing and to public facilities, including lunch rooms." He said those goals would require new action by individuals and governments.

"Such action inevitably involves some unrest and turmoil and tension," he declared. "But the fact that people are peacefully protesting the denial of their rights is not something to be lamented. It is in the American tradition to stand up for one's rights—even if the new way to stand up for one's rights is to sit down."

These were Kennedy's most specific words to date on the Southern sitdown movement. It was learned that Kennedy had a talk about racial questions Thursday night in New York with the Rev. Martin Luther King of Atlanta.

Japan Leftists Blame U.S. On Korea War Anniversary

By GENE KRAMER

TOKYO (AP)—The extreme left Saturday seized on the 10th anniversary of the start of the Korean War as a fresh cause to demonstrate against Japan's new military alliance with America.

The Communist party and several pro-Red labor and propaganda groups scheduled a downtown rally followed by a parade to the U.S. Embassy with slogans such as "American forces, get out of South Korea. Get out of Japan."

The demonstration aimed to warm up the old Communist claim that South Korea invaded North Korea with American backing 10 years ago—a claim frequently accepted by neutralist-minded Japanese. (The Korean War began at 4 a.m. June 25, 1950, Korean time. At that time it was still June 24 in the United States.)

TOKYO RALLY SET

Pro-Red North Korean residents of Tokyo planned a separate rally to air such propaganda and agitate against U.S. bases. U.S. troops were authorized to remain in Japan for at least another decade by the security pact that went into effect Thursday.

The demonstrations were not expected to approach the scale of last week's or of another mass protest scheduled July 2. Left-wing groups plan to mobilize 300,000 marchers, then to press for immediate dissolution of the Diet—parliament—and new elections. They also are backing candidates who want Japan to declare the treaty invalid.

For the weekend, main interest centered on political maneuvering over a successor to Premier Nobusuke Kishi. Kishi has announced that since the pact is in effect he will resign soon.

NEW PREMIER SOUGHT

Nine top executives of Kishi's ruling Liberal-Democratic party agreed to meet Monday in an effort to select the next party chief and, in effect, the next prime minister. This assumes the Liberal-Democrats fulfill most predictions and stay in power after elections.

Living Cost Soars to New Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — In May, for the third month running, the cost of living rose to a record high, the Labor department reported Friday.

Higher food prices, especially in fresh fruits and vegetables, were held chiefly responsible.

The increase in living costs from April was one-tenth of one per cent. The Labor department said this edged its consumer price index up to 126.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

This means the consumer paid a little more than $1.26 in comparison with every $1 laid out in the 1947-49 period.

In addition to more than seasonal increases in food prices, the cost of medical care and other consumer services moved up last month.

On the other hand, housing costs declined for the first time in almost two years. This was due not to lower prices for dwellings but to declines in the prices of home furnishings, fuels and household operations.

Price tags on automobiles, both new and used, also were down, as were tires and gasoline.

Despite the slight increase in over-all living costs, the buying power of the average factory worker rose by one per cent, or 70 cents in terms of spendable earnings, because of longer work hours.

Buying power last month still was two per cent below that of May 1959, however.

Titan Soars In Test of Guidance

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) The Air Force launched its mighty Titan intercontinental missile at sunset Friday.

The 98-foot giant lifted from its launching pad at 7:04 p.m. (EST) and climbed steeply into the skies.

The second stage separation of the missile was clearly visible from the ground. It apparently was a perfect shot.

A small "family group" of employes of the Martin Co., Titan makers, sent up a cheer from the beach. The ocean-spanning Titan, scheduled for a major space job later this year, is now in an advanced stage of development.

Its job Friday was to deliver a Mark IV nose cone to a spot in the South Atlantic 5,000 miles away—just about half the range capability of the Martin giant.

A spokesman said the main objective of Friday's flight was to test a combined radio-inertial guidance system. The built-in system was controlled by ground radio for the test.

Ike Leaving Hawaii Tonight For Capital and Tour Report

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

HONOLULU (AP) — President Eisenhower will end his Honolulu visit Saturday and start back to Washington at 5 p.m. (10 p.m. Atlanta Time).

His jet airliner will make only one stop before arriving at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington about 8 a.m. Sunday, it was announced. It will refuel at Travis AFB near San Francisco.

Monday night Eisenhower is scheduled to report to the nation from Washington on his Far Eastern journey. The 30-minute address, starting at 6:30 p.m. EST, will be carried on major television and radio networks.

The President was praised Friday for "tireless travels to the far corners of the earth" in the cause of peace with justice.

The praise, at a time when his Far Eastern tour was under attack from some quarters, was set forth in a citation by the University of Hawaii. The citation accompanies an honorary doctor of laws degree awarded to Eisenhower Friday night by the university.

Scheduled after the award ceremony was a reception in the President's honor given by Hawaii's Republican governor, William F. Quinn.

The President has been relaxing here since Monday, when he flew in from the Orient after goodwill visits to the Philippines, Nationalist China, Okinawa and South Korea.

His principal scheduled stop the tour, a three-day visit to Japan, was canceled because of what Eisenhower and Premier Nobusuke Kishi termed Communist-promoted riots in Tokyo.

Blowup of that visit has touched off a new flurry of hot criticism of administration foreign policy, including the concept of presidential personal diplomacy.

The University of Hawaii's citation was prepared by its president, Dr. Laurence H. Snyder. Eisenhower was lauded as statesman, soldier and humanitarian, "who has devoted his lifetime to the services of his nation."

2 Men, 2 Women Arrested in Bibb

JEFFERSONVILLE (AP)—Twiggs County officers filed murder charges Friday against two men and two women in the slaying of Leonard Hobson Blalock, 34, whose body was found in woods just off U.S. Highway 129 Sunday.

Sheriff W. Earl Hamrick said those charged are Raymond Purser, 41; Richard Childress, 32; Miss Marcetta Brown, 24, and Mrs. Willie Hart, 40. All are being held in Bibb County following their arrest in a Macon motor court.

STATEMENT BY 2

Hamrick, who was aided in the investigation of the case by Deputy Sheriff Lane Moseley of Bibb County and Henry Walden, Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent at Dublin, said two of those arrested had signed statements. He declined to identify the two.

The sheriff said the investigation showed that Purser and Blalock had argued at the motor court after Purser accused the other man of stealing 40 gallons of moonshine liquor. The sheriff said Purser and Childress lured Blalock into Twiggs County on the pretense of looking for a still site.

CLUBBING CHARGED

Hamrick named Purser as the slayer, saying he clubbed Blalock on the head and then cut his throat. Childress aided in hiding the body, the officer sadi.

A card bearing the name of a Perry meat cutter was the clue which resulted in the arrests. The meat cutter told officers that Purser and Childress, who work at a Macon used car lot, recently visited him in an effort to sell a car. The card, Hamrick said, apparently was dropped by Childress at the slaying scene.

Arnall and Byrd Rake Griffin For Straddling, Corruption

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Two political foes swept ex-Gov. Marvin Griffin with crossfire Friday, one accusing him of a corrupt administration, the other of fence-straddling on school closings.

Former Gov. Ellis Arnall in a statement declared Griffin helped bring on the Little Rock school "fiasco" but is now decrying it.

And Lt. Gov. Garland Byrd, like Griffin and Arnall, a potential 1962 gubernatorial candidate, said in effect that Georgia is well rid of Griffin.

Both brickbats were brought on by Griffin's appearance on a television program earlier this week.

On the program Griffin jabbed at Byrd for adding a former reporter as a full-time aide. On this and other details of the program Byrd declined to comment.

But Byrd added: "The citizens of Georgia are fortunate that he is now a former governor—and I emphasize former.

"Judging from the graft and corruption in his administration which have been bared and are still being bared, and knowing as I do the high moral standards of Georgians, I think our citizens would like to dismiss Marvin Griffin from their minds and never again hear of him or his administration," Byrd declared.

Arnall poked fun at Griffin's apparent retreat from his former all-the-way stand on school segregation.

Arnall said that "if Gov. Griffin at this late date wants to join those of us who are determined to keep Georgia's schools open and operating, we will welcome him."

But, Arnall continued, "no candidate can duck and dodge" in the next election. "Either we favor open schools with as much segregation as we can have under the law, or we favor closed schools rather than have any degree of integration whatever."

When Griffin was governor, Arnall asserted, "he shouted defiance to the courts. He breathed fire and bragged about how he would close the schools if ever a court ordered integration; he said federal troops would patrol empty school houses in Georgia.

"Now, he is beginning to straddle the fence."

Arnall said Griffin "went to Little Rock, visited Gov. Faubus, influenced him to defy the courts, close Central High School and bring about the Little Rock fiasco. Now he says that he is going to spare the people of Georgia of such unfortunate events . . ."

Exuberant Boy, 7, Dashes Through Glass Door Here

A boy's exuberance Friday caused him to run through a plate glass door.

The glass shattered and a few splinters cut 7-year-old Michael Quinn on his left arm.

"Hmm," said Mike, "I didn't realize that door was there."

He had been playing with neighborhood friends in the hallway of the apartment house where he lives at 365 Amal Dr., SW, when he ran through the front door.

Patrolmen G. L. McGraw and H. C. Hammonds called an ambulance which carried Mike to Grady Hospital to have his wounds fixed up.

Mike promised the officers he will look twice before running or walking through any more doors.

U.S. Food, Drug Center Gets Wet Dedication

By HUNTER JAMES

The new district office building of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, at Eighth and Cypress streets, was christened — as well as dedicated — Friday.

A thunderstorm cut short the outdoor dedication ceremony. But Mayor Hartsfield, in a brief address, had time to drop a hint about his political plans.

Turning to Atlanta Chamber of Commerce President Edgar J. Forio, who had given him a warm introduction, the mayor said:

"I appoint you chairman of my campaign committee." Then he had a second thought: "That is, if there is any campaign."

The new building houses administration offices for a four-state area — Georgia, Florida, South Carolina and western North Carolina. It is named for the late Charles W. Crawford, former commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration.

Mrs. Crawford came from California to make a short talk dedicating the building.

George P. Larrick of Washington, FDA commissioner, in the principal address, said:

"The last census showed that Atlanta has entered the metropolitan class; we like to think that this new building is an integral part of that growth."

Probe of Bribe Charge In Whisky Case Ordered

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Judge Charles G. Bruce directed Friday that a transcript of a Negro's testimony in which he claimed that an undercover agent sought a $75 bribe from him be turned over to Sol. Gen. Paul Webb.

The Fulton Criminal Court judge, after hearing a portion of the testimony of Julius Curry, alias Bobby Curry, Negro, of 1989 Turner Rd., SE, ordered that it be taken down by a court reporter.

When the trial was completed, he directed that a transcript be submitted both to the solicitor general and to defense attorney Dan Duke, who brought out the charge in defense of Annette Curry, the defendant's wife, who was charged with possessing and selling illegal whisky on Sunday.

WAS GIVEN TERM

Judge Bruce found her guilty and imposed a fine of $300 or 12 months in jail.

Asst. Sol. Hinson McAuliffe assured the judge that the "investigation of this thing doesn't end here."

Curry claimed that the undercover agent, Henry Lemon, made visits to his house Wednesday and Thursday and told him if he'd pay $75 he (Lemon) would see that Negro agent James Lewis Byrd, a North Carolina revenue agent doing undercover work here, would not identify her in court as the woman from whom he purchased whisky on May 1.

Duke, however, said there was no indication that Byrd knew anything about it.

OFFER RELATED

Lemon categorically denied ever getting any money from Curry or asking him for any. He claims Curry offered $100 and he refused to take it.

Curry and his wife insisted that Lemon visited their home both Wednesday and Thursday nights to talk to them about the bribe. They said he was there Thursday night until after 10 p.m.

However, Byrd swore Lemon was with him at a Negro hotel from about 8:30 p.m. and that he watched the television program "Untouchables" with him. The program ends at 10:30 p.m. Solicitor McAufille said both Byrd and Lemon correctly named the subject of the program story.

Byrd identified Annette Curry as the woman from whom he bought a half-pint of moonshine for which he paid $1 on May 1.

Reynolds and Bride Going to University

BRUNSWICK (AP)—A youthful Reynolds tobacco heir who slipped off and got married just after his father departed for Europe is going back to college at his bride's insistence.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dillard Reynolds 24 and 22 respectively, will enter the University of Georgia this fall to complete their work toward degrees. The elopement and marriage of the couple at Kingsland June 15 was disclosed Thursday.

Mrs. Clifford O. McCormick, the bride's mother, told Friday of the plans for continuance of their education. Young Reynolds, one of the six sons of millionaire R. J. Reynolds, will study botany. The former Clifford Ellen McCormick will resume work on languages. She speaks three now.

Mrs. McCormick said Clifford Ellen advised John they were going back to school—and that was that. Although Mrs. Reynolds was working as a $55 a week clerk when she met her husband-to-be, her family is socially prominent and well-fixed financially.

McCormick has large pecan holdings and a horse farm near Waycross, and Clifford Ellen's grandparents own a large ranch in North Florida.

Young Reynolds has attended Wake Forest College, North Carolina State University and the University of Tennessee.

HARPERSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—Six-year-old Dollie Delores Matthews of Douglasville, Ga., was fatally injured Friday in a one-car wreck within the Harpersville city limits.

Divorcee, 42, Indicted in Pistol Death

A rooming house operator who said she shot a male boarder when he refused to leave her room was indicted on a murder charge Friday by the Fulton County Grand Jury.

The jury indicted Mrs. Marie Bryant, 42-year-old divorcee, of 1097 Avondale Ave., SE, on a charge of murder in the pistol death of E. F. Brigman June 10.

Police quoted Mrs. Bryant as saying Brigman, 56, came to her room partially clothed and refused to leave upon her orders. She said she brandished a pistol which she thought was empty and, when he grabbed for it, the gun fired, police were told.

"I didn't mean to shoot him," she was quoted as telling police.

Police said she was "in a drunken condition" when arrested.

In another indictment, the grand jury charged a store manager, identified as Woodrow Hooker, with embezzling $1,222 on June 16 from Buehler Markets, Inc., 814 Marietta St., NW.

Police said the shortage was found when Hooker failed to report for work the morning of June 17.

Fee System Stand Of Sheriffs Cheered

For the second year the Georgia Sheriffs' Assn. has gone on record as favoring abolishing the fee system with each sheriff to operate his office under a budget approved by the county commission. It called for vigorous support of the salary-budget bill submitted to the Georgia General Assembly this year.

The bill itself called for a salary schedule ranging from $7,500 to $15,000 a year, depending on population. Fees collected still would go into the county's general fund, thus eliminating the worst evils of the system as now practiced.

The action is constructive. The sheriffs deserve commendation and support. If their recommendations are adopted by the General Assembly, better law enforcement would be the result. It would end some of the worst speed traps which have given the state such a bad reputation among travelers. It would contribute toward ending operation of sheriffs' offices for revenue purposes, a practice which tends to make law enforcement a racket.

By all means, the sheriffs should push vigorously for enactment of this legislation for their own security and for better law enforcement.

And once it is ended in sheriffs' offices, why stop there?

Why not go a step further and end it in all county and municipal offices? Such a development would mean better government at all levels, more respect for law enforcement and public officials. It would give the public more confidence in the integrity of said officials and end their resentment against fee grabbers.

It does no good to lash out at groups like the American Automobile Assn. for attacking the state's speed traps. Evidence proves they exist and that they are equally as conducive to ill will of tourists as the clip joints along some of our highways. Both evils should be stamped out and ending the fee system would at least remove one of the temptations.

Federal School Aid Is Certain; Why Not Now?

It would be a defeat of national purpose if Congress fails to take action at its present session on federal-aid-to-schools legislation. This is especially so in the field of construction of classrooms, in which the shortage grows more acute in certain areas with each passing year.

But here we have a situation in which the Senate has passed a bill and the House another. Under normal procedure the bills would be sent to a conference committee for reconciliation of differences. But the House Rules Committee in an incredible action has voted not to clear its bill for conference. Unless it is reversed, federal aid for school construction is dead for this session.

Efforts are being made to rescue the legislation, which has been overwhelmingly approved by House and Senate.

Rationalization does not eliminate the fact that the nation indeed is facing a crisis in education—a crisis with which local and state authorities do not seem able to cope. Federal assistance is necessary for the good of the nation. Reactionaries in the House Rules Committee have acted arbitrarily and this must not be allowed to be final.

Griffin's Politics Cry Gets Him Only a Zero

In the year 976 Muhammad ibn Ahmad wrote a book called Keys of the Sciences.

In it he said that if in a calculation no number appeared in the place of tens, a little circle should be used to "keep the rows."

This was the origin of what Moslems called the sifr. Medieval Latin scholars translated it zephyrum. Italians shortened it to zero, and that, of course, is what we call it today.

Sifr meant empty. Today "zero" means naught, nothing.

That's just what we think Marvin Griffin's latest statement (that reports of corruption in his administration are strictly political) is worth.

Zero. Nothing.

State Docks Expansion Paying Off in Trade

Georgia led the Southeast in rates of gain in world trading in the first quarter of 1960 compared with the same period in 1959.

Figures from the Atlanta field office of the U.S. Department of Commerce showing an increase of almost 13 million dollars for a total of $53,900,000 again demonstrates the value of Georgia ports. The 45 per cent uptrend in exports ($29,500,000) is especially revealing.

These statistics certainly tend to justify the expansion program at the Savannah state docks as well as improvements at Brunswick and Bainbridge. Chairman Robert C. Norman of the Georgia Ports Authority revealed recently that completion of present plans will give Savannah "more facilities than any other competing South Atlantic port."

Construction of Garden City berths and remodeling of the old Central of Georgia docks will more than double present facilities. Growth of export and import tonnage indicates all of them will be needed. Foreign trade has become an increasingly important aspect of the state's economy and will become even more so with further development of our industrial base.

Kennedy's Comment Is Rather Disappointing

Sen. Kennedy now expresses hope that he will win the Democratic nomination without a single Southern delegate's vote. He probably will be accommodated.

The statement was rather unexpected. He had been fairly well regarded in the South. Many recalled his friendliness from the time he sought the 1956 vice presidential spot.

The young senator's need for support in New York, Pennsylvania and California makes his barb understandable politically, if he is playing by the rule of win-at-all-costs. We are nevertheless disappointed in his tactic. We had not expected him to play the game by this rule.

There has been enough prejudice in the last decade—racial, religious and regional—to last the Democratic Party forever. The attitude of Southern politicians on the racial issue has been unbecoming and hurtful to the South, laying it liable to national scorn. There have been signs that the South is moderating a little; certainly efforts are being made, and the harshness of 1948, 1952 and 1956 is diminished. We had hoped this election year would mark a time of some healing.

But a concurrent moderating of regional prejudice is desirable and necessary. We are disappointed in Sen. Kennedy for using it as a tool, however indirectly.

FPC Moves Slowly When It Moves at All

Atlanta Gas Light Co. has told the Federal Power Commission that it wants to reduce gas costs to customers and thus urges the FPC for an early decision in the pending Southern Natural Gas Co. rate cases to make it possible.

The request certainly is valid. Southern Natural is wholesale supplier for Atlanta Gas Light Co. It has raised rates several times in the past year under "bond" provisions pending a decision by the FPC on their justification. Meanwhile, the raises automatically have gone into effect and the Atlanta company is having to pass them on to its customers.

This at best seems a weird way to protect the public's interest. The principle of "pay now, decide later" puts an unnecessary burden on both the retail gas outlets and the consumer. It, of course, makes it easier for the FPC to grant increases—after they already are an accomplished fact. But it also renders even more suspect the functions of the FPC as a protector of the public.

The Georgia Public Service Commission has taken the lead in asking that this system of rate increases be ended. There is every reason for wholesalers to want this bond provision but it sells the public short. But if we must have it, somebody should put a fire under the cumbersome Federal Power Commission to stir it to action. No agency should need all these months and years to arrive at decisions.

Will Our PTAs Enter The School Debate?

It is encouraging to see that the president of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers has written PTA presidents in the state urging them to look into what she calls the "school situation."

The president, Mrs. J. R. Pinson of Baconton, suggested the 1,300 local PTA leaders study Georgia laws relating to schools (and school closing) and the report of the General Assembly Committee on Schools, among other things.

Local PTAs know best the problems of local communities. They should know best and be able to explain best the importance of schools in their separate communities.

As late as it has become, there is still time in Georgia. Let us hope that Mrs. Pinson's letter is a signal of an awakening on the part of our PTAs.

Eugene Patterson

Politician's Stump Is Teacher's Pillory

Put politics into schools and you poison the well where the child drinks. A dedicated school teacher and a dedicated politician are dedicated to different gods. The politician tries to deal with men as they are. The teacher tries to make better men.

Yet two thirds of Georgia's school systems require their master teacher, the superintendent, to be a politician. The people invite him to please them first, and teach their children second. They require him to keep an eye always on what they might think as laymen, not what he ought to think as an expert. They force him to step from the calm, clear climate of academic idealism each election year and prowl the murky bottomlands of politics to scratch, slash, beg or deal for votes. It is painful to see at times.

A man who goes to college for six years, as experts now think a Georgia superintendent should, and who then comes home and deals bravely with the shifting currents of curricula, and merits the respect of an intelligent faculty, and places the proper instruction of a community's children above his own ambition, ought not to be judged by his backpat. He ought not to be picked from the stump.

This practice will not evaporate overnight. But it so clearly ought to be changed that it will be. If success comes to the Georgia committee of the American Assn. of School Administrators in its current campaign to upgrade standards for superintendents, then Georgia owes these better superintendents some protection from the jungle.

A snowballing number of counties have already had the state Constitution amended so they no longer elect a superintendent by popular vote and appoint a board of education through the grand jury. Instead, these communities now elect the board by popular vote and the board appoints a superintendent. Experts in both education and politics agree this is the best way to do it.

The people still may vote on conduct of their schools when they vote for the board. The board then is free to appoint the best school man, not the best politician, it can find. And the school man, once picked, is judged, shielded or discharged by the board. Most of the big city systems operate this way.

A good superintendent is owed such protection. And the community itself is free to go out and get the best man it can find, as the Atlanta board recently found Dr. John Letson in Chattanooga and got him. A county that elects its superintendent is limited to candidates with residence in the one county.

Change, when it starts, comes rapidly. It is surely time to let all the embarrassed superintendents down from the stump. A politician's platform is an educator's pillory.

Johnson a Victim Of Regional Bias

WASHINGTON—There is an increasingly aggressive and even bitter note in Sen. Johnson's campaign for the presidency. The Texan is doing what he rarely if ever does: He is attacking his Democratic opponents personally. In particular, he is trying to stop Sen. Kennedy by arguing that the New Englander is too young.

At the same time, he is saying that Adlai Stevenson is just not the type to carry the politicians with him in the election and that Stevenson cannot carry Texas and some of the other Southern states.

This is not typical of Johnson but it is understandable, for he is being rejected for the Democratic nomination because of prejudices he does not share and because of things he can do nothing about: his Texas origins, his tough-guy appearance and, oddly, because of the recent rise of Black Africa as a major factor in world politics.

The African situation is secondary but it illustrates how events beyond our frontiers influence domestic political decisions.

In the last four years, Africa has been very much in the news, with one predominantly Negro nation after another gaining independence.

Inevitably, this has been a source of considerable pride to Negroes in this country and of resentment against everything and everybody who has seemed to stand in the way of equality for the Negro in this country.

Accordingly, the nomination of a Southerner, even one who has put through the Senate the only civil rights legislation since the Civil War, is repulsive to many Negro leaders in the large cities of the North.

This is hurting Johnson personally and handicapping his campaign. Even those professional politicians in the North who admire his political skill absolve him of prejudice against the Negro and even think he would be the best president of the lot are saying candidly that they are not prepared to risk losing Negro and labor union votes.

Thus, while he has argued against religious prejudice when that seemed to be hurting Kennedy early in the campaign, he is himself the victim of regional prejudice. And, ironically, this is coming from the North, which is always complaining about the regional prejudice of the South.

What makes this all the more galling to Johnson is that religious considerations are now helping Kennedy defeat him. Rep. Buckley of New York said last Sunday that he would urge the New York delegates to the Democratic convention to support Sen. Kennedy. He did not argue that Kennedy would be the best president, though presumably he considered that point, but merely emphasized that "Kennedy is the only candidate who can help us elect our local ticket."

Japan, Summit Offer a Lesson

WASHINGTON — Secretary Herter revealed the administration's dilemma when in effect he testified this week that the President's trips abroad have been a great success and we are not going to have any more of them! He did not put it in quite these words but his meaning was clear.

Using the language of diplomacy, he said the United States "should return to traditional channels and procedures of international contact."

Herter was putting the best possible face on two diplomatic setbacks resulting from administration mistakes. The mistakes were attending an unprepared summit meeting after the President had long said he wouldn't and mis-judging the force of the Japanese riots.

Where does this leave us? There is certainly no reason to take upon ourselves the blame which belongs to others. It was not the President who made a mockery of the Paris summit. It was not Eisenhower who refused to negotiate on anything. It was Premier Khrushchev who, after conferring with the President at Camp David with the knowledge that the U2 flights were being made, refused to negotiate in Paris after the U2 flights had been stopped.

And it was not Eisenhower who, by any action of his own, made his trip to Tokyo impossible with all the embarrassment which its cancellation caused the United States.

But this doesn't mean that the lessons which flow from the summit which never met and from the ill-timed visit to Japan which was never made should not be carefully examined. They should.

In the interests of self-examination and correction it is important to look at what went awry in the administration's own planning for the Paris summit and the Tokyo visit. What we can learn from these events, I think, is this:

1. The central mistake which was made by President Eisenhower and by Secretary of State Herter was abandoning their previous determination—from which John Foster Dulles never wavered—that the United States should not engage in a summit negotiation with the Soviets without thorough advance preparation, without sufficient advance agreement on one or more issues to make final settlement a likelihood.

2. There can be a rational difference of opinion as to whether the administration should have halted the U2 flights on the eve of the summit and the President's projected trip to Russia. But no case can be made for not seriously considering suspending them.

3. Eisenhower should have accepted responsibility for the flights because his responsibility was so obvious that there was no alternative.

4. Secretary Herter testified that the U. S. government misjudged the Japanese situation and concluded that a return to "traditional diplomacy" is in order.

Atlantan Is Incensed at Barking Dogs; Suggests They Start Paying the Taxes

Atlanta—Property owners are expected to pay their taxes promptly. In order to do so we must work. I am awakened at 5 a.m. every morning by the neighborhood dogs.

The infernal yappers keep up their raucous noise all day and night. Their owners, with the apparent sanction of the city, completely disregard the fact they are maintaining a nuisance.

The slogan should be changed to "Atlanta — City of 1,000,000 Dogs." Let the dogs start paying the taxes!

New Georgian Raps Vandiver and Griffin

Atlanta—I'm new in Georgia and have taken pride in saying I live in a pretty city with nice people. However, after reading Marvin Griffin's comments on integration and the other Snuffy Smith-like remarks he has made—and in the last few weeks the passing-the-buck attitude which Vandiver takes toward the vice here—I have no pride in Georgia. I just wonder where the taxpayers' money goes.

I venture to say that the money does not go to education if the people of Georgia are not expected to understand more intelligent conversation than the illiterate and cornball expressions that Griffin made. Surely we do not want the old Kiss'n Jim Folsom and Jimmy Davis regime here—for that is obsolete in a time of scientific progressiveness which we have today.

Reservists Are Urged To Aid Foreigners

Ft. Benning—During this season of the year, most of our military reserve personnel return for two weeks of active duty. This is a good opportunity for many of us to be goodwill ambassadors due to the large number of foreign personnel receiving advanced and technical training in the United States. Many of our guests have complained that Americans in general show little concern over their problems. Let's remember that the impressions foreign personnel receive while in the United States may well be the most successful weapon in the cold war.

Rural Areas Termed Harvest for Atlanta

Athens—The only thing keeping Atlanta from being the tail wagging the dog is the county unit system.

Atlanta has been the beneficiary of a rich, golden harvest of the greatest natural resource, inheriting the youth of the state, after it has been reared and educated at local level and expense.

Controversial Seat Not 'Jump,' He Says

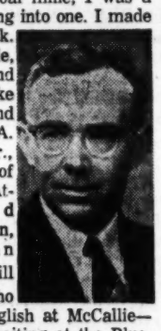

Hapeville—In regard to your comment concerning the much publicized "third seat" controversy, you are very definitely in error when you refer to this seat as a "jump seat." In general aviation terminology, a jump seat is a place to sit other than a revenue seat placed on an aircraft by the operator for the use of company, FAA and other authorized personnel engaging solely in observation. A jump seat occupant has absolutely no functions to perform in the conduct of ground or flight operations. This is certainly not the case involved in the second officer question. Certainly then you are not saying that his seat is a jump seat. If that be true, the captain's seat is also a jump seat.

Coal Mine Tour Tourist Class

For a lad brought up half a mile from a coal mine, I was a long time getting into one. I made it this week. Frank McKenzie, auto parts friend of Atlantans like Bill Rook and John Colley, A. K. Parker Jr., banker, friend of Jim Dudley, Atlanta, and Jim Godwin, friend of John Law and Bill Pressly, who taught Jim English at McCallie—this trio was waiting at the Bluefield, W.Va., airport.

"How would you like to go through a coal mine in a car?" they asked.

I said, "I don't believe it, but I'd like it."

We drove to Pocahontas, where Virginia is west of West Virginia. In the nine miles between Bluefield and Pocahontas, you cross the state line five times and wind up in a state of confusion.

PIONEER: Pocahontas is to coal as Pocahontas was to John Smith and romance:

The famed 10-foot seam of Pocahontas No. 3 was tapped in 1883 and worked until 1955. By then 44 million bituminous tons had moved from beneath the mountain to the fireboxes of locomotives, steamboats, factory boilers and home furnaces over the world.

In 1938 the original Pocahontas diggings were put on exhibit—only mine through which visitors can walk or ride. A group from India had gone through ahead of us Tuesday.

SLOPE: This is a slope rather than a shaft mine in that the entry is horizontal, not vertical. The main entry is a tunnel through the mountain.

The vein stands out in deep, dark contrast to less-than-five-feet, stoop-and-scoop seams in coal mines I have known. The exhibition mine shows in true diorama, fossil overlay, which the weight of mountains and of centuries has pressed into coal.

Other "dioramas" show the old blast, pick and shovel mining against machine cutting and loading, the automation which has created "The Problem" in the coal industry.

Jesus Is Proof There Is a God

Yesterday I made several suggestions concerning "proof" of the existence of God. Proofs may be found in the light which comes to the eyes of some people, in the sense of honor and in the joy which follows a complete surrender to a cause that is greater than self.

If these aren't proof enough, the theologians will recite the cumulative evidence of centuries of thoughtful study. There is, however, one evidence of God's existence which makes all other proof unnecessary. This evidence is Jesus Christ. When one considers Jesus, His life and death, His teaching and influence, it is not difficult to believe in God. Only God could have created Jesus Christ. No mortal mind could have fashioned a life so marvelous, a death so purposeful and a resurrection so miraculous.

Prophetic men of ancient days discerned much concerning the nature of God. They told of His loving compassion, His righteous judgment. His long - suffering forgiveness and His majestic holiness. But those who loved God with greatest devotion were the most conscious of the great gulf which separated the eternal God from sinful men.

They hesitated even to approach God with hands stained by the world. In Jesus Christ this separation was ended, for Christ partook of both the nature of man and God. Man's ever - deepening knowledge of God was personalized in Jesus. Jesus is the translation of God's nature which all men may read.

An acquaintance once asked why Christians made Christ central in their faith. He said that there was nothing which was really new in the teachings of Jesus. Some of those who have studied most carefully both the Old Testament and the Gospels confirm this.

Why should this be true? God did not repudiate His prophets; rather, in Christ was the prophetic utterance confirmed. In Christ the teachings of the Old Testament are not only confirmed but made complete.

The greatness of Jesus is not to be found in the originality of His thought but in the uniqueness of Himself. Never did such a man live. Never did God reveal Himself so completely. God so perfectly possessed the life of Christ that even His enemies found no fault in Him.

Abstract ideas about the nature of God have never had so challenging an appeal to the hearts of men as has the personality of God revealed in Jesus. The late William Lyon Phelps, a Yale professor, once astounded his friends by declaring that he was a Unitarian. When they asked for an explanation, he replied that he worshiped the only God he could understand and that God was Jesus Christ.

Indeed, for many of us, our most convincing "proof" of God is Jesus, and our faith in God is founded on Jesus' word that God is Christlike.

Schools Have No Cause To Be Mute About God

QUESTION: I believe the only solution to the problem of education in American schools—educational without Christ—is for the Christian churches of America to establish church schools. What do you think of such a movement?—A. B.

ANSWER: I believe that church-operated schools are a good thing, but I also believe there is hope for our public school system from a moral and spiritual point of view. While it is true that pragmatism has infiltrated our school system, and some extremists have tried to take even the mention of God out of the classroom, there is still a great deal of sentiment in favor of spiritual and moral training in our schools. Since man is a moral being, it is impossible to completely divorce education from morality. More and more schools are favoring Bible reading (without comment), and many are offering optional Bible classes with trained teachers, and credit given.

After all, 90 per cent of all adults in the United States are affiliated with some kind of religious group. This is a democracy, and the will of the people cannot be entirely ignored by a few educators. Most religious groups are not divided on morals, on the inherent spiritual need of children and on the need of civic righteousness. There are areas of agreement among all faiths, and there is no cause to be so mute about God, the Ten Commandments and the righteous precepts taught in the Scriptures.

Marriage Symbolizes Holy Union

Special to The Constitution

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — A wholesome sex life is an essential to a healthy marriage as proper food and adequate rest is to physical health, a university professor told delegates to the five-day Congress of Seventh-Day Adventist youth.

But "like all other gifts from God, sex has been warped, cheapened and corrupted," said Dr. C. E. Wittschiebe, professor of pastoral care at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Mich.

Dr. Wittschiebe told a seminar on family relations the Scriptures teach that "physical intimacy of husband and wife symbolize the closeness between Christ and the Church."

Reuben R. Figuhr, international president of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, will give the principal address Saturday morning,

Greek Church Youth Meet Here July 1-3

Priests and young people from five states are expected to attend the three-day Southern district Greek Orthodox Youth of America (GOYA) Conference here July 1-3.

Some events planned are a religious and choral workshop next Saturday, a luncheon after church services Sunday and a "Greek Night" program Sunday night at the Hellenic Center. Headquarters will be the Heart of Atlanta Motel, according to Miss Phia Peppas, president of the Atlanta GOYA chapter.

Religious Magazines Abound in Looks, Sleekness

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

American religious bodies are going into the magazine field in a big and craftsmanlike way.

One after another, they've developed handsome, nationally circulated periodicals, aimed both at reinforcing the faith and capturing mass audiences.

"We're competing for people's time and attention right along with radio, television and popular magazines," said Henry McCorkle, editor of the most recently launched church monthly, The Episcopalian.

"We can't do it with self-glorifying house organs."

Started in New York this spring on authorization of the last Episcopal General Assembly, the new publication and various other church magazines of recent origin have the looks and ingenuity of top commercial "slicks."

Pages are glossy and awash with color, the typography eye-catching, the writing brisk and pungent, the contents highly varied, sprinkled with big-name writers. There's a religious focus, but a wide range of subject matter.

The trend has sent combined church magazine circulation soaring to many millions.

The bright and stylish new Methodist monthly, "Together," started in 1956, already has passed the million mark, and is aiming for two million by the end of its second four years.

Editor Leland D. Case of Chicago, said it's necessary to attract the multitudes in readership—if the church is to be served best. The objective, he said, is to be both "instructive and entertaining."

A major task also, he said, is for a church magazine to provide denominational cohesion, linking local, regional and national levels.

Roman Catholic publications, including 130 newspapers and 451 magazines in this country, now have a total circulation of 25 million, double that of 30 years ago.

Biggest of them is the million-circulation "Catholic Digest," a pocket-sized monthly packed with a lively variety in content, and put out in St. Paul, Minn., by Father Paul Bussard, publisher, and Father Kenneth Ryan, editor. Adv for AMS Fri June 24

Also in the million-circulation class is the enterprising "Presbyterian Life," official biweekly of the United Presbyterian Church, edited by Robert J. Cadigan in Philadelphia.

Recently the Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church, moving toward merger, combined their separate magazines into a spruce, spirited new biweekly, "United Church Herald."

It's edited by Andrew Vance McCracken, of New York, and Theodore C. Braun of St. Louis.

Another relative newcomer is "Jubilee," a monthly with a flair for unusual art and typography. Founded by lay Catholics it's put out in New York under editor Edward Rice.

Ministers Learn How To Make Use of TV

By JIM BENTLEY

Several hundred ministers from all over the Southeast are attending the church, community and communications workshops in Emory University's air-conditioned Bishop Hall. The workshops began last Monday, will end July 7.

One of the most interesting things these people are doing is experimenting with new video-tape equipment, like the television networks use.

Dr. G. Ray Jordan, director of the Art of Preaching and Communications Workshop, says this equipment enables participants of the workshop to preach or present a dramatic program before the camera and then play it back immediately for analysis.

"Nothing comparable for teaching purposes has ever been invented."

Dr. Jordan and his staff are using the facilities of the Protestant Radio and Television Center and WETV educational TV station.

According to the brochure, the interdenominational professional program is designed for ministers:

1. Who have access to radio and television.
2. Who are concerned about the operations of a station and the problems broadcasters face.
3. Who want to raise standards of programs of religion to a professional level.
4. Who are willing to learn the discipline of writing for effective communication.
5. Who are determined "to preach so that the Word of God can be communicated to men."

Several scholarships were awarded. One recipient was the Rev. Frank M. Scarlett Jr., pastor of the Fort Valley First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Mr. Scarlett recently was named by the Presbyterian Synod of Georgia to its new Permanent Committee on Television, Radio and Audio-Visuals.

Names and Events

Dr. Roy A. Burkhart, author and pastor emeritus of First Community Church of Columbus, Ohio, which was voted one of America's 12 leading churches in a poll of American ministers, is guest preacher Sunday at both morning services at Peachtree Road Methodist Church. Dr. Burkhart, author of "The Secret of a Happy Marriage," "Understanding Youth" and "How the Church Grows," will preach on "The Most Important Place for the Church." . . . The Rev. A. Harrison Clulow, participating in an international exchange program with Auburn Methodist Church, will preach the 7:30 p.m. Sunday service at St. Mark Methodist Church. The Rev. Mr. Clulow, pastor of Christ Methodist Church, Worcester Park, England, will also attend a few sessions of the North Georgia Methodist Conference here. . . . Another guest preacher Sunday is the Rev. Charles Neal, pastor, Unity Church of Christianity, Colorado Springs, who will preach the 11 a.m. sermon at Atlanta Unity Church.

Catholic Population Put at 509,505,000

Gleaned from special 1960 issue of The Quarterly Review, Southern Baptist handbook:

—Roman Catholics lead the religions of the world in population with 509,505,000 members, 18.2 per cent of the world's popultaion. Moslems take a 15.2 per cent slice of the world; Hindus, 11.7 per cent. And combined Protestant membership, 7.5 per cent, is fifth, following the followers of Confucius, who number 10.7 per cent of the world's peoples.

—Out of 2,890 Baptist churches in Georgia, 64 have no Sunday School program. Average membership of Georgia Baptist churches is 300.

Bishop Moore Convenes Conference at 4 Monday

At 4 p.m. Monday Bishop Arthur J. Moore will convene the 172nd annual meeting of the North Georgia Methodist Conference.

The five-day conference will be at the First Methodist Church here. Dr. Pierce Harris is host pastor and Dr. Lester Rumble is host district superintendent.

It will be the last convention over which Bishop Moore will preside. He retires in July after 20 years as bishop.

(A new bishop will be elected, convention-style, during the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference at Lake Junaluska, N.C., next month).

A dinner honoring Bishop and Mrs. Moore is scheduled for 1 p.m. Thursday at the Dinkler-Plaza Hotel.

Conference preacher for the five-day meeting is Dr. Charles Ray Goff, pastor of Chicago Temple, and known throughout America for his sermons on the network radio program "Methodist Men's Hour."

Important resolutions to be considered by the conference are increases in minimum salaries of preachers and changes in district lines. Churches are divided into districts similar to Georgia counties.

Ministers' salaries, always important, were increased $600 per year at the South Georgia Conference a week ago. The minimum salary a married preacher can be paid is now $3,600. Bachelors make at least $3,000.

Constitutional amendments passed at the recent General Conference in Denver will not come up this week because of red tape on the national level. The amendments will be considered later in the year by the state level body.

On Friday new ministers will be ordained, along with persons entering the conference "on trial." The latter must serve a two-year probationary period to qualify as a full-fledged minister.

OPTIMIST PRESIDENT
John W. Whatley

Whatley Heads U.S. Optimists

John W. Whatley of Atlanta has been elected president of Optimist International, the world's fourth largest service organization.

Whatley is president of John W. Whatley Co. and vice president of Flooring Distributors, Inc., here. His election as Optimist president was at the organization's annual convention in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Whatley, a Methodist and a Mason, has served as international director of the Optimist club and as chairman of its districting, finance and public relations committees.

He is a former president of Optimist district 21, which includes the entire state of Georgia.

Whatley and his wife, Frances, live at 558 East Wesley Rd., NE, here. But he won't be at home much next year—as president of the Optimists, he will have to travel about 100,000 miles.

Bondsman Here Freed In Stabbing

A charge of disorderly conduct, stabbing against Atlanta bondsman Russell H. Cleveland, 62, of 949 Park Ave., SE, was dismissed Friday afternoon in Municipal Court.

Judge James Webb ruled there was "positively no evidence whatsoever" to indicate that Cleveland stabbed Erline Harper, 40, of 747-B Holmes St., NW.

Defense witnesses testified that Cleveland was not present when the woman was cut and that she had previously threatened to take her own life and try to blame the death on Cleveland.

Cleveland was charged with stabbing her Wednesday after she showed up at Grady Hospital's emergency clinic for treatment of a one-inch long cut on the right side of her neck. The same detectives who placed the charge against Cleveland testified at the trial that the woman was drunk at the time.

Cleveland testified that he had been to the woman's apartment to move some furniture and had been away from the premises at least 15 minutes when the woman was cut.

Avoid Politics, Magruder Tells Korean Army

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — America's top soldier in Korea warned the South Korean army Friday to stay out of politics.

Gen. Carter Magruder, U. N. commander, told graduates of the South Korean defense college that since ousting ex-President Syngman Rhee in April, the Korean people want to "decide major questions fairly, through the polls."

Teen Who Knows Says Don't Run Away

A 15-year-old Atlanta girl, who ran away from home May 3, has returned to her parents here with these words of advice for other teenagers:

"I wouldn't advise running away. . . . It isn't as easy as it looks."

Fran Mullendore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullendore, 1385 Boulevard Lorraine, SW, returned Thursday with her parents from Columbus where she'd been working as a waitress.

Fran's disappearance and the ensuing search by her distressed parents were recounted in The Atlanta Journal-Constitution on June 5.

TV Influence Attempt Told To Examiner

By JACK ADAMS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A special examiner Friday closed a review of a Miami, Fla., TV channel contest after hearing a witness tell a blunt story of attempted outside influences in the case.

The witness, former Miami Mayor Perrine Palmer Jr., lifetime friend of Commissioner Richard A. Mack, said he contacted Mack as an emissary for the South Florida Television Corp., one of four bidders for TV channel 7. He testified he wound up with a $1,250 fee.

POSSIBLY IMPROPER

Palmer told the special examiner, retired Chief Justice Horace Stern of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court:

"As I look back now, possibly what I did could be considered improper. At the time, I didn't think so. I thought every applicant for radio or TV attempted to get all the help he could."

His intervention, he said, was solicited by South Florida's president, Jack C. Stein.

Palmer testified he was not able to obtain any committment from Mack and that he later put Stein in touch with Thurman A. Whiteside, another old friend of Mack's.

Stein testified last week he had hired Whiteside for a $5,000 fee "to find out where the pressures were coming from" while the FCC was considering its decision.

GOT $1,250

Palmer said Friday he got $1,250 from Whiteside "for introducing him to Stein."

The former mayor said he got into the case because Stein had promised to throw business to Palmer's construction company, and "I felt it would be improper for the newspapers to own a TV station in Miami—it would give them too much power over public opinion."

The channel was awarded in January, 1956, to Biscayne Television Corp., largely owned by executives of the Miami Herald and the Miami Daily News. The review was to determine if any misconduct occurred during the contest.

COX TESTIFIES

James M. Cox Jr., president of the Daily News Co., and head of the Cox newspaper and broadcasting interests, testified Friday he had never contacted any FCC member in connection with the Biscayne application, in which he owned a 28 per cent interest.

Cox said that in late 1955 he called on Commissioner Mack, a Miamian whom he had not met previously, "to disabuse his mind" about a false rumor that some sort of private merger had been effected between the News and Herald, one of the John S. Knight newspapers.

There were rival Cox and Knight radio stations in Miami at that time and the Cox organization also had stations in Dayton, Ohio, and Atlanta, Ga.

LEARNED OF REPORT

Cox testified he learned that the false report of a Miami newspaper combine had been given to Mack and he was concerned it might be believed, with resulting jeojardy to existing Cox station licenses.

The witness noted that FCC requires periodic reports on station ownership and also forbids a single interest to own more than one radio or one TV facility in a given community.

Cox said he was accompanied on the Mack call by News publisher Daniel J. Mahoney, who said "knew Mack casually."

NOT MENTIONED

"The Biscayne application was never mentioned," he said. "My concern was for our existing broadcasting properties. I wanted to straighten this out personally because I am responsible for the integrity of our ownership reports to the commission."

UNDER INDICTMENT

Mack and Whiteside are now under indictment for the alleged rigging of another Miami TV award.

Roy M. Cohn, one-time special investigator for the McCarthy Senate Investigating Committee, was scheduled to testify Friday but advised that his airline flight was grounded by bad weather in New York City.

FCC counsel then announced they would rest the case without hearing him.

Stein told the hearing examiner last week he had sought Cohn's services as a special investigator of "reported pressures in the commission."

Sweden to Build Town for Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Chile accepted an offer from Sweden Friday to take over the "total reconstruction" of the small fishing village of Puerto Saavedra, which was destroyed by the tidal wave that followed the earthquake last May 22.

Byrd Hits Kennedy, Hints Johnson Nod

Lt. Gov. Byrd blasted presidential hopeful Sen. Kennedy for reported anti-South sentiments Friday and gave credence to reports that the Georgia delegation is Johnson-prone.

He said all aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination are following a line of using the South as a whipping boy—"with one possible exception."

He did not name the exception, but there were strong indications he meant Sen. Johnson of Texas.

SOME FAVOR KENNEDY

Rumors persist that Georgia's delegation to the Demicratic National Convention are leaning toward Johnson, a friend of Georgia Sens. Russell and Talmadge. Some members of the delegation, however, are believed to be pro-Kennedy. State Party Chairman James Gray of Albany is a friend of the Massachusetts senator. He has not, however, committed his personal support for Kennedy and speaks with virtually equal enthusiasm for Kennedy, Johnson and Sen. Symington of Missouri.

Byrd, official delegate from Taylor County, attacked Kennedy for a New York Times report which quoted Kennedy as telling New York liberals he hoped to win the nomination "without a single Southern vote in the convention."

KENNEDY FOLLOWS LINE

He said Kennedy's statement didn't surprise him because "he is following the line of all other potential candidates—with possibly one exception."

Byrd would not speculate on a possible fight between Johnson and Kennedy backers within the delegation.

He pointed out that Georgia's support will be determined by the "unit rule," through which the choice of the majority will get the entire 33 delegates votes from the state.

He said he does not favor the unit rule.

WILL SUPPORT NOMINEE

Despite his remarks against Kennedy, Byrd said he will support him if he gets the nomination.

Georgia always has supported the Democratic nominee, he said. Byrd added that, although he is a staunch Democrat, he wasn't sure that it had been a good thing for the state.

He said as far as he can tell from talking to other Georgia delegates, "the great majority of them have wide open minds and the delegation, as of today, is an uncommitted group."

But he warned that, "We can't go to the convention under the assumption we are going to nominate a man favorable to the South."

5,500 Ignore Dampness To Cheer Third Pops

The Atlanta Pops Orchestra drew an enthusiastic crowd of 5,500 to its third concert Friday night — despite heavy rains in the late afternoon and threatening skies right up to show time.

In fact, the seats at Chastain Park amphitheat were wet when the music lovers arrived. But judging from the strength and duration of applause, not one minded the adverse conditions.

Atlanta sopranos Loretta Fowlkes and Wilma Norheim and East Point pianist Robert Spence were crowd-pleasers, as was the vocal duo of Annie and Tom Mayton of Columbus.

ELECTRIFYING

Miss Fowlkes started off a bit nervously on Gershwin's "Summertime" but finished in fine style. She then sang a compelling, electrifying rendition of the plaintive "My Man's Gone Now," also from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Miss Norheim used "Vissi d'Arte" from Puccini's "La Tosca" as her stepping stone to the crowd's plaudits. Spence, now in the Third Army Band, gave a powerful performance of a condensed version of Liszt's Piano Concerto No. 1. The Maytons evoked memories of the past with a strong rendition of Friml's "Indian Love Call."

The Atlanta Concert Group, directed by Ruth Mitchell Kimbrell, closed the show with the premiere of a new dance version of Jackie Gleason's "Tawny," choreographed especially for the Pops by Miss Kimbrell. It was an appealing climax.

GRACE CHOIR

Director Albert Coleman and the orchestra were joined by Charles Beaschler's Beaschniks in "Your Horoscope in Music," narrated to the amusement of the crowd by Bob Van Camp. The Grace Methodist Choir appeared in "My Eternal King."

The orchestra played "Manhattan Serenade" featuring Mary Sue Rehm on the piano, "Die Fledermaus Overture" by Strauss, Romberg's "Student Prince Fantasia", Coleman's "Fiddler's Fancy" and the suite from "My Fair Lady" by Lerner and Loewe.

Jack Butler's "Atlanta Fantasy," originally scheduled for this concert, has been postponed until July 4 to give more time for rehearsal, Coleman announced. The Fourth of July concert will close the Pops season.

Atlantan, 24, Injured in Paint Blast

A gallon of paint exploded in the face of an Atlanta man Friday, seriously injuring him before a fellow worker smothered the flames with his shirt.

A cutting torch ignited the paint, which contained a highly explosive thinner.

The victim, 24-year-old Richard C. Alexander of 676 Capitol Ave., SE, ran after the explosion with his clothing afire.

A co-worker, James White, stopped him and smothered the flames with a shirt.

Alexander was treated for second and third degree burns at Grady Hospital Emergency Clinic, then transferred to St. Joseph Infirmary where his condition was listed as "good".

At the time of the explosion, Alexander, an employe of an iron company, was constructing back steps for a house at 1293 Fairview Rd., NE.

$2.5 Million Voted to Shift Benning Road

COLUMBUS (AP)—The U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee has approved a $2.5 million allocation for relocating highway 103 from the Ft. Benning reservation to a new route between Cusseta and Buena Vista.

Sen. Russell of Georgia, ranking Democrat on the committee, reported the action Friday and said he has been assured by the Department of Defense that work on the relocation project will begin immediately.

The existing highway cuts through a vital training area at Ft. Benning and must be closed when long-range artillery firing is in progress.

That Kind of a Year

Los Angeles Veep Buzzie Bavasi, weary from attempting to figure out why the Dodgers are in the second division, arrived in Atlanta Friday to see why Cracker farmhands are in first place.

Shortly after Bavasi checked into the Dinkler Plaza, rain threatened to wash out a game at Poncey for the first time this season.

Outlar

"It's been that kind of a year," Bavasi said, gazing out the window and grinning.

A year ago the Dodgers were en route to the world championship and acclaim as the Comeback Team of the Year in sports. They are currently staunch candidates for the outstanding flop of 1960.

It's fashionable to ask Bavasi what happened?

"I'll be honest with you," he replied. "Last spring at Vero I thought we had a fine chance of repeating, and we've still got a chance.

"I don't know why it happened, but here's what happened. We got fine pitching when the season started, but we couldn't score runs. On the last home stand we hit .304 as a team, but we did not get the pitching. One span we scored 54 runs, lost four out of six games. We haven't been able to get together. Five regulars are hitting below .250."

Unlike most general managers, Bavasi isn't putting the blame on the pilot.

"It's not Walter Alston's fault that guys like Gil Hodges and Duke Snider and others aren't hitting. We certainly aren't considering a change in managers."

—Rube Can Keep 'Em Down on the Farm

Even if Bavasi was unhappy with Alston, he's opposed to switching managerial horses in mid-stream. He thinks Horace Stoneham made a mistake in bouncing Bill Rigney.

Before leaving the coast Bavasi was quoted: "I never like to see an interim manager. Players don't respect such a man, assuming he could be gone before the next windstorm at Candlestick.

"Stoneham won't like that I know," Bavasi said, "but I'm not denying I said it. That's the way I feel about it. Stoneham will figure I've got troubles enough of my own."

Bavasi isn't venturing on the limb with such a remark. The Giants have won only two games since ex-Cracker Tom Sheehan took over.

Naturally, Bavasi is hoping the Dodgers will start resembling defending world champs. He knows the club hasn't played up to its potential and heartily endorsed the tongue lashing Alston administered this week.

"To get back in the race, we've got to beat Pittsburgh, Milwaukee and the Giants," he said. "Beating second division teams won't do it now. We've got to beat the teams up front."

Is Bavasi on a scouting mission in Atlanta?

"No, sir," he quickly answered. "I want to make it clear that we're not calling up anyone from this club. We want boys like Pete Richert, Tim Harkness, Doug Camilli and the others to stay right here and win a pennant and get experience. We've been real pleased with the operation here. Rube Walker obviously is doing a fine job on the field, and so is Jerry Waring in the front office."

Bavasi was assured that he was absolutely correct about his men in Atlanta. They're doing stickout jobs.

—Crax Pilot Passed Up Job in Majors

"We're also pleased with response from the public," Bavasi added. "I haven't received a single letter from Atlanta criticizing players."

What about next year?

"Well, that depends on the Continental League," Bavasi said. "As I've told you before we are not in competition with the new league here. But we'll have to know soon whether they intend to operate a team here next year."

Bavasi then related a story about Walker passing up a major league job to manage the Crackers this year.

"We were playing Washington an exhibition game at Vero last spring. We had several young players in the line-up, and Calvin Griffith says that he's interested in getting a player from us.

"I'm anxious to hear which youngster has impressed him, and he says they'd like to buy Rube Walker.

"Well, they needed catching help, and I gave Rube a chance to make a choice. He passed it up. Said he'd rather manage in Atlanta. And I think everyone is pleased he made that decision."

To view Dodger employes in first place this summer, Bavasi has been forced to hit the road. Before coming to Atlanta he was in Spokane to check on the Pacific Coast leaders.

Now, he's toying with the idea of staging a post-season play-off between Spokane and Atlanta if the farm clubs win pennants.

In fact, Bavasi and Mr. Walter O'Malley should be able to attend such a family quarrel next fall, for it doesn't look as though they'll be involved in another World Series.

BATESON INTERESTED IN KANSAS CITY SALE

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—J. W. Bateson, co-owner of the Dallas-Fort Worth Rangers of the American Assn., showed interest Friday in news that a large chunk of stock in the Kansas City Athletics may go on sale.

"We'll sure look into it, but all I've heard about it are rumors," Bateson said.

If Bateson, a wealthy contractor, could purchase controlling interest in the Athletics, it could pave the way for their possible movement to the Dallas and Fort Worth area.

But Allen Russell, Ranger general manager, said, "This could be just another shot at the Continental League. It might be another major league attempt to sabotage the third league. But we'll certainly keep a close watch on it."

Crax Stomp Maloney And Pound Vols, 9-3

Snyder Gets Second Win

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Gene Snyder never had it so good, nor Jim Maloney so bad as Friday night when the Crackers all but chased their Maloney jinx and the Nashville Vols out of Ponce de Leon Park, 9-3.

Both the Atlanta left-hander and the Nashville right-hander learned how the other half lives as the Crackers widened their Southern Assn. lead over Little Rock to 2½ games and sank the Vols deeper into third place.

Hard-luck Snyder, provided only one run for 23 innings on the mound, suddenly found himself in 5-1 clover after the fourth inning.

Maloney, who had limited the Crackers to a single run while beating them three times, suddenly found himself under the showers, bombed from the premises in 3 2-3 innings.

For awhile it appeared to the rain-braving crowd of 1,739 that Maloney might set a world record for strikeouts. For by the time he was dismissed by manager Jim Turner, the young flame-thrower had whiffed nine Crackers.

It was with great suddenness that Rube's Rifles found the range on him after he rode into the third inning on a 1-0 cushion.

Dick Tracewski was beneficiary of one of Maloney's seven free passes and Gene Wallace knocked a dent in the right-field signs with a run-playing double. The second of four straight safeties by Tim Harkness chased Wallace across with the 2-1 go-ahead run.

But after Jim Koranda singled and Jim Williams walked, loading the bases, an aroused Maloney blew down Bill Lajoie, Poochie Hartsfield and Snyder on strikes.

He weathered that storm but the next one was too much for him. Doug Camilli opened the next round with a double to deepest center and Turner protested that the catcher had hit out of turn. Umpire Frank Girard concurred and called him out, and Walker protested the game.

That decision so irked the Crackers they took it out on getting wilder Maloney. Tracewski and Wallace walked and Harkness singled Tracewski home.

Koranda was given an intentional free ticket to first, and after Williams went down on strikes, Lajoie ripped a two-run shot up the middle and Maloney had earned a bath.

Successor Steve Kraly got by handsomely for 1 1-3 innings but departed for a futile pinch hitter. And the Crackers greeted Lefty Wally Seward like a long-lost batting practice pitcher.

The Vols had moved into a 3-6 challenging position in the sixth. But the challenge didn't last long as Harkness doubled, Koranda singled and Williams smote a three-run home run. The 385-foot sock over the left-center wire was Jim's 13th.

A walk to Lajoie and singles by sinned-against Camilli and Tracewski accounted for the fourth run of the inning, the final one of the game.

Snyder, whose fifth defeat was

Joe Cash Leads in Masters

Mistake Costs Champ Stearns

By DICK SEWELL
Constitution Sports Writer

PINE MOUNTAIN — Chuck Stearns, whose symbol is a red polka dot bathing suit, and whose main title is world champion, was the big shocker here Friday afternoon as the 1960 Masters Water Ski tournament began at picture postcard-like Ida Cason Callaway Gardens.

Stearns, from Bellflower, Calif., fell on his first pass in the tricks event to stun the over 500 enthusiasts assembled on the west side of the Gardens' Robin Lake.

The 20-year-old mechanical engineering student easily admitted his mistakes in the important tricks event, which along with the slalom and jumping count for the overall title.

"I made a false move," Stearns said, "I let my back ski fall too deep in the water. But, I still have a chance for the men's overall."

Last year, Jumping Joe Cash, Sarasota, Fla., was first overall while Stearns came in as his runnerup.

Cash ended the preliminary events Friday with the best chance to capture the trophy event. He was second in the tricks to Geoffrey Wolfe, Pensacola, Fla., and fourth in the slalom.

Wolfe, the country's No. 1 trick skier, scored 2,560.3 points to Cash's 1,959.5. Mike Osborn, national champion from Cypress Gardens, was third in the tricks with 1,834.3.

A high school teacher from Lake Placid, N.Y., Warren Witherell, scored an amazing 44 points to take the men's slalom. Witherell doesn't have a chance in the overall, because the slalom is the only event he entered.

AFL REVERSES ITS FIELD, AND NIX LOSES CONTRACT

By AL THOMY

Halfback Frank Nix of Georgia Tech was left holding a useless contract when American Football League Commissioner Joe Foss announced Friday that college undergraduates would not be signed in the future.

Nix had signed earlier with the Los Angeles Chargers of the AFL, passing up his final year of eligibility at Tech because of family obligations.

In defining undergraduate recruiting, which has been under heavy fire from the rival National Football League, Foss made two exceptions. He said that Ernie White of Ohio State and Jack Sherer of Miami would be allowed to play with L.A. and New York.

He admitted he was allowing them to remain because he had approved their contracts and it would be difficult to take them back.

As for Nix and halfback Jack Espenship of Florida State, also signed by L.A., Foss said he would not approve their contracts nor the contracts of any other undergraduates.

Nix is in California and could not be reached for comment.

Head Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech said he held "no ill feeling" toward Los Angeles for signing Nix.

"It was a special case—one of hardship—and we did not stand in their way."

He added that Nix had made up his mind to pass up his final year of eligibility at Tech and would not be included in plans for 1961.

"His was a special case, as I said," continued Dodd. "As a general rule we favor this new action by the American Football League. We don't want to see professional football do like pro baseball and grab boys before they get out of college.

"In the long run, the former rule of not signing undergraduates is best for all concerned."

It is not known what Nix's plans are now. He could conceivably play in the Canadian League, or perhaps stay out a year until his class graduates and then sign with an American pro club.

Kubek Big RBI Man As Yanks Roll, 10-6

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tony Kubek drove in five runs with two homers and a single Friday night to lead the New York Yankees to a 10-6 victory over the Cleveland Indians before 39,675 fans in the opener of a four-game series.

The triumph was the 14th for the league-leading Yankees in their last 16 games.

The winner was rookie right-hander John James, the third of four Yankees pitchers. The win gave him a 4-0 record.

Johnny Klippstein, third of five Cleveland pitchers, was charged with the loss, giving him a 1-3 record, all in relief.

Unbeaten Jim Coates started for the Yankees, seeking his ninth victory, but was lifted with only one out in the fifth inning when the Indians staged a five-run rally to tie the score at 5-5. He was followed to the mound by Bobby Shantz, James and John Gabler.

shutout victory over the Washington Senators Friday night, yielding only three singles.

The Tigers supported him with an 11-hit attack that included five singles in the first inning off ex-teammate Don Lee.

The Tiger veteran, boosting his record to 5-4, allowed only one man as far as second base. That was Reno Bertoia, who led off the game with an infield single and continued to second as third baseman Yost threw wildly to first.

The defeat was Washington's fourth straight.

Veeck Is Fine After Surgery

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Veeck, president of the Chicago White Sox, was doing well at Mercy Hospital Friday after undergoing further amputation of his right leg.

Three inches of bone above the knee was cut from the leg. Veeck originally suffered the injury in the South Pacific while serving with the Marines in World War II. This was the seventh operation on the leg.

EVERY LIGHT'S A WHISTLE STOP!

Lots of gals are getting big delusions of grandeur these days. Because all the guys on street corners are whistling, but at Valiant. There's no denying Valiant looks terrific—like it wasn't really an economy car at all. But it is. Valiant pinches pennies like crazy, with a gas-nursing inclined engine, fully unitized body and a battery-saving alternator electrical system—to name just three money-savers. But Valiant never pinches you. There's plenty of room for a family of six, plus a vacation's-worth of luggage. If you're whistling at Valiant instead of driving it, why not make music together? See us soon.

WE ARE THE MEN WHO SELL Valiant

Dodgers Defeat Braves

Ed Roebeck Wins in 10th

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers scored two runs on only one hit in the 10th inning Friday night to defeat Milwaukee 5-3 and snap the Braves' six-game winning streak.

The defeat pushed the Braves 3½ games behind the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates who kept up their hot pace by beating the Chicago Cubs 4-1.

The Dodgers victory went to Ed Roebuck who relieved Sandy Koufax with one out in the third and held the Braves to four hits the rest of the way.

Wally Moon, who had struck out three times, opened the Dodger 10th with a triple. He scored on Don Demeter's sacrifice.

Frank Howard was safe on Eddie Mathews error and John Roseboro was hit by a pitched ball. Mathews muffed Charlie Neal's grounder and Howard scored. Ron Piche replaced Jay and purposely passed Maury Wills, filling the bases. Piche struck out Roebuck and got Gilliam on a fly ball to retire the side.

Slammer, Palmer Move Front, Center

Snead Shoots 68, Arnie 71 To Give U.S. 3-Stroke Lead

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland (AP) — Sam Snead and Arnold Palmer shot the United States into a three-stroke halfway lead as the invalid South Africans faltered and the host Irish surged Friday in the international Canada Cup golf championship.

Snead, 48 and in the twilight of a fantastic winning career, sent the American colors to the front with a 4-under-par 68 which also gave him a tie for the individual lead with Belgium's suave Flory Van Donck, also 48.

This fine exhibition plus a scattershot 71 by Palmer, the U.S. Masters and Open champion, gave the Yanks a team total of 279, three shots better than the Irish who rallied to overtake the sagging South Africans with 282.

South Africa, the first day leader, was in third place at 284, followed by comebacking Australia which snapped back at 286 on a 68 by Kel Nagle and 69 by Peter Thomson. Belgium and surprising Argentina were tied at 287.

In the individual competition, Snead and Van Donck were one shot better than Palmer and South Africa's Gary Player at 140. Player's asthma improved but his golf worsened as he added a nightmarish 75 to his record-smashing first round in both the team and individual competitions.

Snead's round matched that of green-eyed Christy O'Connor, the idol of Ireland, and Nagle's 68 as the best of the day over the picturesque 7,093-yard, par 36-36—72 Portmarnock Course which nestles in a peninsual jutting into the Irish Sea.

An excited but orderly gallery of 15,000 watched the Irish team of O'Connor and Norman Drew forge into the early lead only to have the position wrested from their grasp by the two bull-shouldered Americans.

Thompson, Neely Team Loses in NCAA

SEATTLE (AP) — Top-seeded Lawrence Nagler and Allen Fox of UCLA ousted Ned Neely and Harry Thompson of Georgia Tech, 6-4, 6-2, 4-6, 7-9, 6-1 in the semifinals of the NCAA tennis tournament here Friday.

However, Neely salvaged a title for the Southeastern Conference when he beat Jim Jeffries of Sanford, 6-0, 6-1, in the consolation round singles finals.

First-seeded Whitney Reed of San Jose State and Nagler advanced to the singles finals.

Bitsy Grant, Shippey Win

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—Unseeded Frank Thompson of St. Louis joined the top three seeded players with victories Friday in the quarterfinal round of the USLTA Senior Clay Court tennis championships.

Thompson, St. Louis insurance executive, downed Ed Dileone of Cleveland, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

Hal Surface of Kansas City, ranked first, ousted Bob Nihousen of Akron, Ohio, 6-1, 6-3, to gain the round of four along with second-seeded Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta, 6-1, 6-2 victor over George Ball of New York, and third-ranked Larry Shippey of Atlanta, who defeated Ward Parker of St. Louis, 6-4, 6-2.

White Sox Slip Past Boston, 2-1

Shaw Pitches Seven-Hitter

CHICAGO (AP) — Right-hander Bob Shaw, recording his first victory in three weeks, hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 2-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox Friday night.

The White Sox scored single runs in the first and second innings and then watched Shaw, last season's sophomore of the year, keep the Red Sox in check on seven hits.

Boosting his record to 6-7, Shaw had one rough inning and that was in the sixth when Willie Tasby and Pete Runnels both singled with one out and Ted Williams followed with a double to left center.

Bill Monbouquette pitched well but suffered his seventh loss in 13 decisions.

vacant by retiring Nancie Rideout, Cypress Gardens, Janell Kirtley, Birmingham, Ala., was the standout. The 5-3 redhead, who learned to ski on Birmingham's Warrior River, tied with Lakeland's Barbara Cooper in the women's slalom with 22 points and was first in the trick with a total of 2,309.7 markers.

Janelle, Masters' girls champion in 1959, and second in the nationals, said about her trick run: "It was the best I've ever done in the event."

Cooper was third in the tricks with 980 points. She holds the women's world jumping bark of 92 feet.

Taking a second in the tricks and fifth in the slalom was Vicki Vance, national girls' titleholder from Sacramento, Calif.

The circus attraction of the day was put on by Fort Lauderdale's Norine Barbill, one of the favorites here in the tricks. Norine fell early in the event but stayed on her skis although sitting on the water.

Veteran water ski observers remembered the same situation happened to Rideout in the national championship. Under Masters' rules, Norine's ride didn't count for her. Nancies got credit, thought, in the nationals.

Ni Orsi, Stockton, Calif., runnerup in the national boys tournament in 1959, won the boys' trick qualifying with 2,629 points and was second to Larry Tenacho, San Diego, Calif., in the slalom.

Stobs Swims to New Record In Peach 100-Yard Freestyle

Mulliken Sets Mark in 200

By DICK SEWELL
Constitution Sports Writer

LAGRANGE—They had the pool measured right here Friday and Shirley Stobs, Florida's Olympic hopeful in the women's freestyle, took full advantage.

Shirley, 17, broke the existing national citizen's record in the 100-yard freestyle event twice in the 14th annual Southern Peach Swimming Meet.

In the night finals Shirley, swimming for the Miami Shores Country Club team, hit :58.3. In the afternoon she had a :58.7.

She eclipsed the U.S.'s No. 1 freestyler, Chris Von Saltz of Santa Clara, Calif. Chris held the record with a :59.1 mark set in 1958 at Alameda, Calif.

Only last Wednesday night at the East Point Rotary Invitational, Shirley had beaten the record with a :58.1 swim. But, the pool was found to be one inch too short.

The U.S. record is held by an Australian, Dawn Fraser. She had a :56.3 in 1957.

Bill Mulliken, the national AAU champion in the breaststroke, was clocked at 2:30.9 in the 200-yard breaststroke. The time will be submitted to the AAU for approval by the records committee.

The Miami University (Ohio) senior had a 2:46.6 time in the 220-yard breaststroke. The national record is 2:45.6.

Many records fell in the meet Friday, and more will be erased in the finals Saturday. A new age group, 14 and under for both boys and girls, gets a complete slate of new times.

Two 12-year-old mites, representing the Swim Assn. of the Palm Beaches, Fla., broke the national 12-year-old and under-age group 50-yard breaststroke record.

Bobby Bridges and Richard Ahrens, both eighth graders at Conniston Junior High School in West Palm Beach, Fla., cut one-tenth of a second off the national mark of 36.3.

Kgiana Assn.'s Dick Jacks held the old record until the two tanned Floridans came in with a 36.2 in the 50-yard Callaway pool here.

Junelle Cunningham of the Dayton (Ohio) Dolphin's set a 28.2 mark in the girls 12 and under 50-yard freestyle; Atlanta Independent's Harrison Merrill had a 2:15.0 mark in the men's 220-yard freestyle and Stobbs, Miami Shores C. C., broke the women's 220-yarder with a 2:29.2 time. For other records.

Steinborn Tops Mighty Yankee

Dickie Steinborn beat the Mighty Yankee two falls to one Friday night when the Yankee was disqualified on the third fall at the municipal auditorium.

In other matches Leo Garibaldi pinned Mickey Blassie in 14 minutes; the Corsica brothers defeated Doug Gilbert and Bill Alexander in a tag team match, and Corsica Jean pinned Alexander in five minutes.

at the hands of Maloney last time out, scattered six singles. He struck out six and walked only three in gaining his second triumph. The once wild, wild man with the big league arm has now walked only eight—except for 3 unintentionals — in the last 25 frames.

Maloney, seeking his 12th decision, soaked up his third defeat instead. He has fanned 128 in 120 innings, six short of the numbr whiffed by loop leader Pete Richert of the Crackers.

Charlie Spell (6-2) and the Vols' Paul Robinson (1-3), both righthanders, are the likely pitchers Saturday night (7:45). A Sunday double-header (2 p.m.) will close out the series and home stand.

CRACKER CRUMBS — Buzzie Bavasi, vice president of the Los Angeles Dodgers; league president Hal Totten and Dodger scout Leon Hamilton watched the game from the press box. It was the first look at the Crackers for Bayasi and Totten. . . . Litwhiler's Diamond Grit covered the infield made muddy by pre-game rains.

Turner's protest came about after Cracker pilot Rube Walker turned in his lineups to the umps with only eight players listed. The catcher was omitted, Rube being undecided whether he or Camilli would catch until just before game time. He forgot to insert it. The umps didn't catch the mistake, so Camilli hit after Snyder in the lineup. Turner waited until after Camilli doubled on his second trip to ask that Camilli be called out.

Mizell Hurls, Hits Pirates Over Skidding Chicago, 4-1

Bend Bats in Two in Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell scattered seven hits and drove in a pair of runs for the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night as they whipped Chicago 4-1. It was the eighth straight loss for the Cubs.

Mizell struck out four and walked only two batters in picking up his fourth victory of the year. He has four losses. The only run off the southpaw came in the fifth when Jim Hegan tripled and scored on Jerry Kindall's single.

It was the first complete game this season for Mizell, who came to the Pirates several weeks ago in a trade with St. Louis.

Chicago starter Dick Ellsworth (3-5) pitched six innings, gave up nine hits and all four Pirate runs.

The Pirates picked up two runs off Ellsworth in the second on singles by Gino Cimoli, Don Hoak and Mizell. They racked him for two more in the sixth on singles by Cimoli, Bill Mazeroski and Mizell and an intentional walk.

Joe Schaffenoth pitched the last two frames for the Cubs, allowing one hit. He walked three and fanned two.

FRITZ ORR CLUB VOTES TOP AWARD TO ABBOTT

John Y. Abbott, 13, rising eighth-grader at Lovett, has won one of the highest awards given by the Fritz Orr Club, that of "Outstanding Athletic Achievement."

He is the fourth boy in the last 30 years to win this award, which is given for proficiency in all sports, attitude and based also on written exams.

Last winner of the trophy was Roy Roberts of Northside, presently a member of the University of Kentucky basketball team.

Abbott is the son of Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Abbott, 3037 West Pine Valley Rd., NW.

Buddy Fowlkes, one of his instructors at Fritz Orr, calls Abbott "an outstanding athlete and boy."

Phils Check Cards For Sixth in Row

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies extended their winning streak to six games Friday night with a 4-3 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals.

It is the Phillies' longest winning streak since the 1958 season.

Robin Roberts checked the Redbirds with seven hits—five of them in the first two innings—for his third consecutive mound success and fourth of the campaign. At one stage, the veteran righthander retired 19 batters in a row following a 40-minute rain delay.

Mays, Antonelli Give Giants Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Willie Mays' one-man offense and the relief pitching of Johnny Antonelli helped give San Francisco's Giants a 5-3 decision over Cincinnati Friday night.

Mays' two home runs headed a nine-hit attack by the Giants—smarting after four straight losses to Milwaukee.

Antonelli had to strangle a ninth inning Cincinnati uprising to nail down Mike McCormick's first victory over Cincinnati this year.

Koch Pitches Barons' Win

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Young Alan Koch, who earlier this season was doing his pitching for the Auburn Tigers, won his first professional game Friday night as he hurled the Birmingham Barons to a 3-1 victory over the Memphis Chicks at Golden Park before a crowd of 2,737 fans.

It was the first game of a two series which Memphis has scheduled for this west Georgia City. The Chicks are "home" to Birmingham here again Saturday and Sunday. They play a series in July here with Atlanta.

J. HAROLD TOWNES (R) WINS GOLF CROWN

He's Congratulated By F. Graham Williams

Townes Leads Architects

James Webb, J. Harold Townes of Greenville, S.C., and Andrew Mangione, of Atlanta were winners in the 37th annual Golf Tournament for Architects, Draftsmen and Engineers at East Lake Country Club Friday.

Townes fired a 73 net for first place among architects; Mangione's 68 net won the Atlanta Cup; Webb's 62 was tops among draftsmen and Myatt's 75 beat the engineers.

Townes received the F. Graham Williams Trophy for his victory.

The winners:

Lakewood Sprint Car Race Called Off By Promoters

By AL THOMY

The sprint car race scheduled for Lakewood Sunday, July 3, has been canceled, according to co-promoter Stuart Nelson.

He also disclosed that all other stock car races scheduled for Lakewood under MARC sanction this year have been suspended until further notice.

"The reason is simple," said Nelson. "We were just running short of cars and drivers and we felt we did not want to put on another show until we were satisfied we could get more cars."

Nelson added he wanted to "get the car-driver situation straightened out before scheduling another race for Lakewood."

MARC had approximately 20 cars in each of two races here. Snow prevented some drivers from making the first race. The second, however, fell 13 cars short of the 34 announced as entered.

The All-Amercian Racing Assn. of Munice, Ind., headed by Tom Cherry, was contacted in regard to putting on the sprint show July 3. Originally, the promoters had talked with USAC.

"We regret we have to call off the sprint show at this time," said Nelson, "but we don't want to put one on until we are satisfied that those who enter are in the starting field."

BETTER GET NAUTICAL BOOK TO SAVVY LANGUAGE OF SEA

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

I was talking with a lady who had been invited on a Caribbean cruise. She was excited over the fact she would share a stateroom with the Captain's wife.

"Where will the Captain be?" I asked.

"Oh," she gurgled, "he'll be spending all of the time on his stern."

"In that case," I said, "I hope he's got a good first mate."

She drew herself up rather indignantly.

"Whether I stay in his stateroom or not, he certainly won't have but one mate."

Charles Elliott

There's no telling where that conversation might have finally taken us. I didn't have the nerve to carry it another sentence. I knew it would only confuse things to explain that the Captain of a boat usually spends a lot of hours on his bridge, even though he might be on his stern at the same time, and that generally first and second mates had no connection whatsoever with the love life of a Captain on the high seas.

I did recommend to that charming lady that if she'd get herself a book on nautical terms and learn a few of them, it would make her cruise through the Antilles a much more delightful affair. It could also save her a bit of embarassment somewhere along the line.

That recommendation might generally apply to all potential sailors, whether they plan an ocean voyage, or anticipate having their own craft, be it a luxury liner or fishing bateau of more modest proportions. Seafaring people have a language all their own, built around boats and their use. To be able to talk the language of the seas—the term "seas" is meant to include fresh water as well as salt—give a guy or gal whose vacation and playtime ideas naturally gravitate to the waters, added stature, not only in the eyes of the old salts with whom they'll rub shoulders, but in their own opinions as well.

With the proper knowledge, they are not as likely to think in terms of beer if someone looks at a boat and asks, "How much draft does she carry?" or flounder helplessly if someone else says, "Coil the hawser on the starboard side."

I was feeling right smug about all this until I peeled down to my own skivvies and suddenly discovered that my education in nautical terms had been sadly neglected. So I set out on a search for a complete glossary of said terms and phrases used on and around the sea. Not only did I want to anchor one of those lists near my typewriter as a handy reference—it would have been an excellent book to present to the lady headed for her Caribbean cruise with the Captain's wife.

The nearest I've come to finding such a reference is in son Jim's Coast Guard Manual, but even that list is not complete. And besides, you wouldn't want to present a full Coast Guard Manual to a person who is preparing to get under way for a holiday around the briny fringes. He or she might get the wrong impression of your intentions.

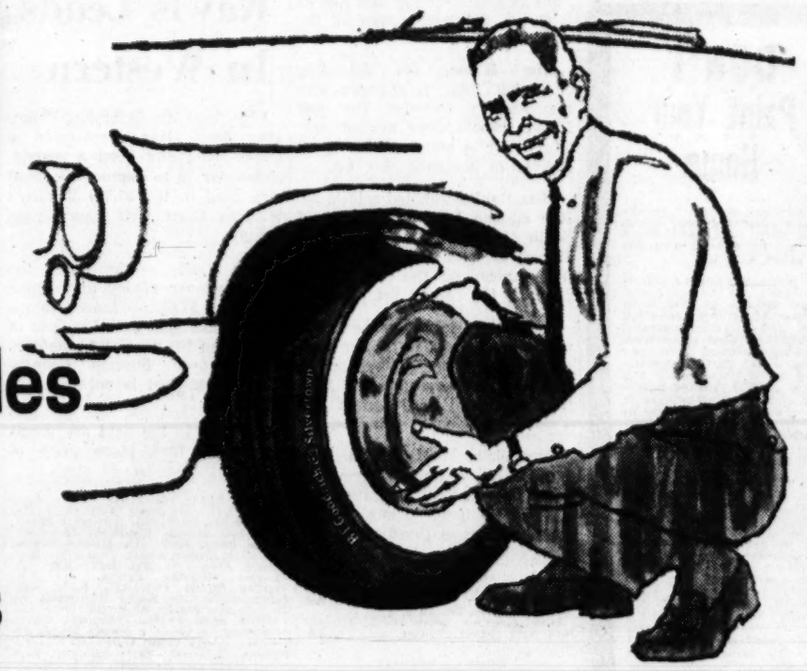

So I'm looking for a small, neat complete booklet of nautical words, terms and phrases. If such literature is in existence, a good many folks I know would like to have a copy.

When his second set of $12.95 "bargains" is ready for the junk heap...

you'll still have up to 10,000 miles left on your "HT" Silvertowns

(Results from on-the-road tests)

New B.F.Goodrich "HT" nylon tire doubles your tire dollar. Gives you the safety features of tires twice its price—in addition to outwearing two sets of "bargain" tires. "HT" puts more rubber where the wear is—on the outside ribs. You enjoy better traction, greater protection against blowouts, greater stability at high speeds. "HT's" secret is its extra-wide, extra-deep, extra-safe tread. It's a full 13% wider and 6% deeper than regular tires. Under normal driving conditions, even when 50% worn, "HT" Silvertown gives you greater safety than new "bargain" tires. If you want a real tire bargain—if you want your tire dollar to work twice as hard—it's the new B.F.Goodrich "HT" Silvertown for you.

HOW TO PLAY BETTER GOLF

TAKE THE HIGH ROAD WHEN PUTTING

NO. 7 OF A SERIES

Ask most average golfers on the 10th hole why or how they have been losing holes through missing putts and the chances are they will say, "I'm just not putting today."

An analysis of those putts will invariably reveal the player has been consistently missing those strokes in the same way on each hole, and doesn't know it. Why? Simply because with the emotion inherent in putting, his attention was diverted. He was concerned more with how he said "Darn it" than with what he did wrong.

Putting is like gunnery in that the two major components of the projectile's flight are range and deflection, or distance and left or right.

With putts, it breaks down in this way in relation to the cup:

Right ..... Short
Left ..... Over

AND . . . when you "drop" one . . . think what you did correctly!

Very often golfers will take lessons from their professional on every phase of the game but putting. Yet, through his eyes you can learn what you are doing right or wrong in this very vital area.

Keep Track

By keeping track of your putts on each hole, you can get a hole-by-hole running account of your putting, and it is simple to do: Simply take an extra score card.

Consider that you will probably not (or certainly shouldn't) take more than four putts on any green. Also consider that at the top of the card there are spaces for the names of four players. Number these spaces . . . left to right . . . 1-2-3-4. Then after you complete each putt mark the following symbols opposite the number of the hole under columns 1-2-3-4 denoting your putts as you play:

R ..... Right S ..... Short

Naturally on a 1-putt hole 2-3-4 spaces will be blank. With this system you will be able, in many instances, to place your finger squarely on the putting problem. You will be amazed at the pattern the symbols will develop.

By being constantly alert to your own putting game, you can determine why you are right or left . . . by the way you stroke the ball.

Play the Odds

In the matter of distance, you may find, for example, that when you are "over" you are snapping your wrists.

Make sure your side hill putts that miss are on the high side (the professional side). The professionals play this side because it gives them better odds. Play the odds in your favor.

In practically 100 per cent of the cases, a golfer will find his error on a missed putt greater in terms of distance (short or long) than right or left. The difference is great. Consequently, by concentrating on distance, a player can be in a much more favorable position for the next putt.

In lining up putts, it is often a good idea to stand a substantial distance behind the ball. This is a psychological or mental factor making the putt seem easier when you finally step up to make your stroke.

And . . . one thing more on this matter of placing the putting odds on your side. When you putt . . . concentrate!

TOMORROW: "Play the Best Kind of Match—For You!"

(From the book SECRETS OF WINNING GOLF MATCHES, by Lon W. Ramsey, copyright 1960, by Pilot Industries, Inc., of New York.)

Douglas Triumphs

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Charley Douglas, 143½, New York, scored an unpopular 12-round decision over Australia's Phil Wallace, 141¾, Friday night.

The referee's decision was loudly booed by the fans, who thought Wallace was well ahead on points.

SNIPES GET READY FOR UNIVERSITY YACHT CLUB REGATTA AT LAKE LANIER

Sailors from the South Take Part In Big Water Show Saturday and Sunday

Bueno and Hantze Beat Rain, Foes

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Brazil's Maria Bueno and California's Karen Hantze jogged between the showers at the waterlogged Wimbledon tennis courts Friday and gained the quarterfinals of the women's singles in the All-England Championships.

They were lucky—not in winning—but in getting enough time on the soggy courts to finish their matches. Officials finally called off play for the day at 3:p.m., EST., with only 12 of a scheduled 52 matches finished and these included two held over from Friday. In two days, 73 matches have been put back because of the rain.

One finally completing a suspended match was Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis, who wrapped up a 6-4, 15-13, 7-5 victory over Bob Mark, the fifth-ranking Australian, in the third round of the men's singles. Only the third set was played Friday and just as it ended, a two-hour rain hit the courts.

Miss Bueno, the defending champion, took no chances with the English climate. The Sao Paulo schoolteacher needed only 23 minutes to polish off Margaret Kellyer of Australia, 6-0, 6-0.

Miss Hantze wobbled a little before ousting Lynne Hutchings of South Africa 6-2, 6-8, 6-1. The cute 17-year-old star from San Diego began pounding the ball out of court in the second set.

As the third set began she halted a couple of times to tie her shoe laces and pull herself together. It worked. She overpowered Miss Hutchings with hard serves and a series of winning smashes.

Buchholz broke Mark in the fifth game after hitting a string of crisp volleys. The Australian resisted two match points in the game and broke Buchholz in the tenth.

MEN'S SINGLES
Third Round

Earl Buchholz, St. Louis, defeated Bob Mark, Australia, 6-4, 15-13, 7-5.
Albert Gaertner, South Africa, defeated Jean Noel Grinda, France, 6-3, 3-6, 8-6, 6-4.

WOMEN'S SINGLES
Fourth Round

Maria Bueno, Brazil, defeated Mrs. Mary Hellyer, Australia, 6-0, 6-0.
Karen Hantze, San Diego, Calif., defeated Lynne Hutchings, South Africa, 6-2, 6-8, 6-1.
Anny Haydon Britain, defeated Rita Bentley, Britain, 8-6, 6-0.

FORTUNE A FAVORITE IN TODAY'S REGATTA

Sailors from five states have set their sights on Lake Lanier for the first University Yacht Club regatta Saturday and Sunday and 65 boats are expected.

They'll race in snipe, thistle, celebrity, wind mill Y-Flyer and a special open class for boats with less than three representatives.

Alabama, Florida, South Carolina and Chattanooga sailing groups will have entries as well as groups from Georgia. Pete Fortune of St. Petersburg, international champion in the celebrity class, will be among the favorites.

John Coppedge is general chairman of the regatta with McKee Nunnally and R. Howard Dobbs Jr. as co-chairman.

Rawls Leads In Western

CHICAGO (AP)—Defending champion Betsy Rawls mastered a tricky wind and fired a second-round par 73 to capture the halfway lead in the $7,500 Women's Western Open Golf Tournament Friday.

Miss Rawls — the year's top money winner among the women pros with $7,877 — moved into a three-stroke lead over the field of more than 100 pros and amateurs playing over Beverly Country Club's 6,412-yard layout with her 149 total.

The pros in the field are shooting for a first place prize of $1,313.

Kennedy Shocks South

president of this nation and lead the free world should be one who desires and seeks the support of all sections of America."

KENNEDY DENIAL

Meanwhile, amid signs that Kennedy had put his foot in his mouth in New York, the Massachusetts Senator's offices here issued a denial of sorts.

The Kennedy folks did not flatly deny that he had said he hoped to win without Southern support, and they did not say he had been misquoted.

But Ted Sorensen, a Kennedy aide, termed the Times story an "inaccurate report" of what the Senator had said in the closed door meeting with the Liberal Party.

REPAIR ATTEMPT

Apparently trying to repair whatever damage the stories have done to their candidate, Kennedy's staff issued this statement:

"In New York yesterday, Sen. Kennedy stated in response to questions that in his judgment nearly all, if not all, of the southern delegations would be pledged to Sen. Johnson.

"That was his only reference to the matter.

"Sen. Kennedy has always stated that he welcomes the support of any American citizen and that he hopes to win the support of the majority of the American people, north and south, east and west."

LIBERALS PLEASED

New York newsmen said Kennedy had pleased the Liberals with his forthright statements on civil rights and told them that "moral persuasion" by the president can be more effective than force in bringing about desegregation of Southern schools.

According to one, Kennedy feels:

FREEDOM OF ACTION

As a presidential candidate entirely lacking in delegate strength in the South, he would have unusual freedom of action in dealing with politically touchy civil rights questions.

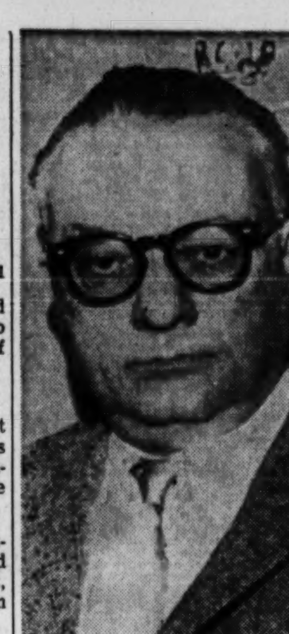

He is not looking for any delegate support from the South (Sen. Johnson of Texas holds most of it) and wants no obligation to the South that would interfere with carrying through a strong civil rights program.

END COALITION

"In the North and West, enough liberal-minded congressmen could be expected to win with him so as to effectively end the conservative 'coalition' that prevails in Congress among Democratic Southerners and Northern Republicans."

In 1956, in a furious contest at Chicago with Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, Kennedy almost won the Democratic vice presidential nomination. He was supported by Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas and Virginia.

In the 1957 civil rights fight in Congress, Kennedy voted sometimes with the South, sometimes against the Southerners. This year, in the 1960 round, Kennedy consistently voted against the South.

project is masked as a program of economic aid.

Reports of such Communist activity in southern Cuba have been circulating for about a year, but have never been verified.

At the Pentagon, it was said there is no knowledge here of any airstrip being built in southern Cuba, but that a ship or submarine base might be under construction there.

Keating spoke of reports to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that more than 1,000 Red Chinese have gone into Cuba to "encourage or force" 30,000 Chinese living there to tie up with communism. He said the Reds are using extortion, as well as other methods of intimidation.

Among other things, Keating proposed that this country start action in the OAS to inform Castro that responsible Western Hemisphere governments do not approve of his "open courtship with Communist tyranny."

Rogers advocated a conference of foreign ministers of OAS member nations to draw up a plan for immediate action to meet the "threat of communism from the Cuban beachhead." He introduced a resolution asking congressional backing for such a meeting.

a distance as the presidential caravan turned into the broad thoroughfare.

The site for the assassination attempt was only a few blocks from the reviewing stand. The car in which the bomb was placed was demolished. Several of the cars in the presidential motorcade were damaged.

Motorized police were alerted and a roundup of known extremists was begun.

An emergency cabinet meeting was called.

The government named Gen. Antonio Briceno Linares, army chief of staff, to be interim defense minister pending Lopez Henriquez' recovery.

Interior Minister Luis Augusto Dubuc went on a nationwide radio and television network and he accused followers of ousted dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez "and agents of the Dominican Republic" of responsibility for the assassination attempt. Venezuela has no diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic and the two nations have been at odds since Betancourt became president a year and a half ago.

British Cabbie Ruled Guilty in Cochrane Death

BRISTOL, England (AP)—A 20-year-old cab driver was found guilty Friday of causing the death of American rock 'n' roll star Eddie Cochrane by dangerous driving. The driver, George William Thomas Martin, had pleaded innocent.

Cochrane was a passenger in Martin's cab April 16 when it hit a wall at a speed estimated by police at 70 m.p.h.

The judge ordered Martin to pay a 50-pound—$140—fine or go to prison for six months, and disqualified him from driving for 15 years.

State's Sheriffs Vote United Political Front

law enforcement, the association unanimously declared:

"When our speed laws are violated, endangering lives, we will make arrests, whether the reckless drivers be tourists or Georgia citizens."

In another resolution, the sheriffs endorsed a statewide salary-budget system of paying sheriffs. The salary system would replace the fee system, which rewards a sheriff financially for an increased number of arrests.

ENDORSED IN '59

The identical salary proposal was endorsed by the sheriffs last year, but it failed of passage in the 1960 General Assembly because of opposition from a powerful bloc of county commissioners.

The proposed system already operates successfully in 23 of Georgia's 159 counties.

The convention was the fifth since organization of the association in 1955.

OTHER BUSINESS

The resolutions involving political unanimity, fee system and speed traps were adopted during the closed session. Other business accomplished, according to spokesmen, included:

(1) Reelected Sheriff Jewell Futch of Valdosta in Lowndes County as president. Futch has headed the group since its founding five years ago.

(2) Adopted a resolution, offered by Sheriff Carlus Gay of Dublin, supporting registration of all firearms by individuals.

BOYS RANCH

(3) Rededicated itself to the Boys Ranch being developed by the sheriffs for 140 neglected boys on 406 acres near Hahira.

According to spokesmen, the resolution backing a budget-salary system for sheriffs was adopted after association attorney John Jernigan of Covington said:

"Many legislators believe sheriffs asked for this bill as a farce, and the sheriffs were not serious. We've got to make it known that the sheriffs are in earnest."

SCALE PROPOSED

Jernigan, asked later about specific salary provisions of the proposal, said it provides for pay ranging from $7,500 to $15,000 on the basis of county population.

He said good law enforcement cannot come from the fee system's arrest-incentive.

Under the proposal, the fees still would be collected and put into the county's general fund. But the sheriff, instead of depending on fees for his pay and office expenses, would be placed on a salary.

SHOULDN'T BE TIED

In its resolution on speed traps, the association observed that complaining motor clubs are sustained by collection of fees from members.

It said lawmen "should not be hamstrung in this duty by any group which profits from the publicity of so-called speed traps."

The resolution called on clubs "to join with us in reducing highway fatalities by encouraging their members to observe and obey our state laws instead of flouting them."

Association members elevated Sheriff John Maples of Mitchell County from second to first vice president. Sheriff Ralph Grimes of Fulton was elected second vice president, and Sheriff Robert E. Lee of Ware was reelected secretary-treasurer.

The association accepted the invitation to hold its next convention at Rome.

than $10 and for dues or initiation fees in social or athletic clubs.

The rejected stockholder amendment would have repealed the four per cent tax credit allowed on dividends in excess of $50 a year of $100 in the case of married couples.

The Senate loophole amendment was adopted in modified form. It stemmed from a complex court decision which now is being appealed to the Supreme Court.

It would bar the mining industry from claiming the so-called depletion allowance tax deduction on finished manufactured products. Certain courts have held that manufacturers of brick and cement can compute percentage depletion on the basis of the selling price of the finished product rather than the lower value of the raw materials going into the product.

The conferees voted to close this loophole, but only in the future.

with attorney Carl McAfee of Norton, Va., personal lawyer for the pilot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Powers.

Parker said McAfee has also applied for a visa to Russia.

He added that he, Hazard and Rogers all have passports to Russia and therefore did not visit the U.S. State Department.

Parker said the group would decide when to leave for Moscow as soon as the Russian embassy approves their request "which I expect they will do."

Parker said the Russian government probably will appoint Russian lawyers to represent Powers during his espionage trial but the American group hopes to be on hand to work with the Russian lawyers in preparing the pilot's defense. Powers has been held in Moscow ever since his plane was shot down over Russia May 1 on an admitted spy flight.

Expected Rise In New Housing Fails to Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spring failed to produce a hoped-for rise in private housing starts were running at an annual rate of 1,305,000 in May.

This rate, which was adjusted to offset seasonal factors was unchanged from April but well below the May 1959 rate of 1,580,000.

The actual number of private nonfarm starts in May was 124,000 units, the report said. This compared with 121,500 in April. The increase was just what statisticians would normally expect between the two months.

Hams Pitch Camp for Fast Chatter

TEEN-AGERS SEND RADIOGRAMS WITHOUT CHARGE
Al Thomas Sends Message to South Carolina for Kathy Wozney

Teen-agers, especially boys, don't need the glittery theatrical aspirations to become a ham.

With a little electronic equipment scattered around in the basement or a room in the house, teen-agers are talking to fellow ham radio operators throughout the world.

Some teen-agers are such avid hams that many an attractive girl finds herself sitting alone on the sofa on Saturday nights. But this isn't true of all hams.

"There was a time when I put my radio hobby first," David Schiff (W4CLR) said, "But not anymore. I like to date too."

There are times when the radio transmitters, antennas and tool kit come first, though. Such a time is Saturday and Sunday.

FIELD DAY

The Teen-Age Radio Club in Atlanta is to be at Stone Mountain, pitching camp and talking all over the world for a 24-hour period. The club is participating in the annual Field Day for amateur radio operators.

During this designated 24-hour period, hams will see which club or individual can talk to the largest number of hams over the world.

The Atlanta Teen-Age Radio Club has beat two adult groups here the past two years. Which doesn't prove that teen-agers can out-talk adults, but as David puts it, "We can outoperate adults."

David says the club members must get to Stone Mountain about five hours before the 24-hour period begins to get their equipment set up. "It's just like going to the desert and setting up broadcasting facilities," David said. We have to put up our own generators for power and antennas and poles."

MORE TIME FOR RADIOS

David says teen-agers have more time to devote to their radio equipment and are more enthusiastic about the hobby than adults.

Members of the teen radio club believe their hobby is a constructive one that eventually leads them into related electronic fields.

There are about 30 active members of the teen-age club which are usually filled with technical discussions and sometimes have speakers from the telephone company, Georgia Tech and others in the field of electronics and communications.

Many of the boys build part of their own equipment.

Before they can broadcast they must pass a stiff test to get their amateur radio license.

Al Thomas, a member of the club, has a collection of cards from hams all over the United States and the world. When Al talks to another ham the person sends him a card, designed according to the sender's taste giving call letters and technical data related to their talk.

COLLECTS CARDS

Al has cards from Canada, Alaska, Germany, Moscow, Portugal, Ghana, West Africa, Japan and Northern Rhodesia.

He has helped service men at Wake Island talk to their families in the States by using a telephone patch. This is done by a ham at Wake contacting Al who calls the service man's family on the phone here and allows them to talk over the phone through the radio.

This week was Amateur Radio Week in Georgia and to observe the special occasion the Teen-Age Radio Club here set up radios in four stores throughout the city. They sent some 300 radiograms free of charge for Atlantans to all parts of the United States and several foreign countries.

Teen-agers who are enthusiastic members of the radio club try to put their generation in a "good light." "Most of us wear suits when we are before the public to show we are not a bunch of 'hoods'," David said.

Courtship Tactics Are Unnatural

Courtship among young people today has reached such a state of "unnaturalness" that many marriages are doomed to failure from the very first date, a noted lecturer and author on love and marriage has said.

Dr. Harold Shryrock, chairman of the department of anatomy at the College of Medical Evangelists in Los Angeles, Calif., said that the desire to be popular and accepted "actually makes courtship an unpleasant experience for many."

"The pattern of courtship too often is directed by only one of the parties—the boy," he said "In such cases the girl follows the pattern established by the boy with the thought that this is necessary in order that she make social progress. This is an unnatural relationship and eventually will lead to frustration, disillusionment and hate."

Dr. Shryock said that "the most satisfying and rewarding courtship is realized when each party manifests an attitude of unselfishness — demonstrating that he is genuinely concerned with the other's preferences. This provides the groundwork for determining the workability of a potential marriage and for realizing true love."

HEAR GRAHAM JACKSON AT JOHNNY REB'S DIXIELAND

There's a Fabian Fan in Como Clan

By BETTY CARROLLTON

The casual countenance of Perry Como registered surprise.

It was a fleeting expression, but for a few seconds he was brought out of his best-known mood of complete relaxation. (And this was the night BEFORE he was robbed in Atlanta. Our informants report he definitely registered shock, then.)

That's something of a record for a two-day span in Perry's schedule. As his brother-in-law, Dee Belline, observed, the singer's casual attitude is completely natural.

"Why not?" Dee added with a grin, "he's had 48 years of relaxation."

Perry was surprised when a Constitution reporter queried him about his plan to adopt two more children.

"It's true," he responded, "but we've been doing it kinda secretly. I wonder how news about things like that leaks out?" (He turned a quizical gaze upon his interrogator, who breached the silence with another question.)

"We have three children now," the amiable singer continued. "The youngest two — David, 14 and Terri, 13 — are adopted. My wife and I feel we're being a bit selfish trying to adopt two more. But it's something we want very much."

Ronald, oldest of the Como youngsters, is a student at Notre Dame.

"He's 20 now," Perry said, "and has another year at college Roselle (Mrs. Como) and I feel we've been mighty lucky. We think all three of our children are wonderful. And there must be two more youngsters somewhere who are ready for the love we can offer."

Every member of the Como clan is fond of music, but Perry has never tried to dictate their tastes. Terri is a Fabian fan. Ronnie prefers ballads; his favorites are the older tunes (many of which his father boosted to the nation's hit parade.) David, a high school freshman, likes music, but "just doesn't care too much what it is."

Perry pointed out that his schedule for the two-day visit here, in behalf of his television show and his records, was pretty hectic. "But I did manage to get in a few holes of golf Wednesday afternoon," he added with a grin.

It'll come as a surprise to no one that golf is the favorite sport of Mr. and Mrs. Como. While harmony is the keynote of relationships of members of the family, Roselle and Perry have been known to "air a few gripes" about their respective golf scores.

"Most of the griping," asserted Mrs. Como's brother, "is limited to bad golf shots. Roselle just plays at the game. It means more to Perry."

Mr. Belline, who's been Perry's business manager for 16 years, is a close friend of his amiable associate (and fellow victim of a burglar during their visit here.)

Dee was not in the least reluctant to discuss his sister's husband. Mr. Belline's summation of the singer, however, merely confirmed what WE'VE known all along: "Perry's always the same," Dee declared. "He never changes. He's a real nice guy."

Seventh Graders Can Use Little Makeup and Still Be Attractive

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

Upon reading one of your columns recently we noticed the item on lipstick. You said, "If you are old enough, wear it." We would appreciate a statement from you regarding grade school pupils wearing make-up, especially lipstick. We have a rule in our school (8th grade) no make-up for pupils.

ADULT TEACHER OF CHRISTIAN SCHOOL.

DEAR TEACHER:

A "statement" from me will mean little except to express my personal opinion and is not to be construed as a criticism of the rules at your school.

Most girls can use a little make-up to advantage about the time they reach seventh grade. While I do not approve of anyone—at any age—using heavy make-up, a little make-up skillfully applied makes any girl or woman more attractive. I see nothing wrong in girls of junior high age wearing a little light—and I repeat, LIGHT—lipstick, plus a touch of powder to cover a shiny nose.

Some few people think of make-up as a sort of unnecessary, worldly adornment. I believe that make-up is no more to be frowned upon than wearing attractive clothing, instead of covering ourselves with rough, burlap bags.

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

My problem is not a common one. I have an older sister (she is 16, I am 14) who "borrows" the belongings of the rest of the family.

Please don't advise that she talk to our local minister because that would be our own father and I can assure you he has done all he can.

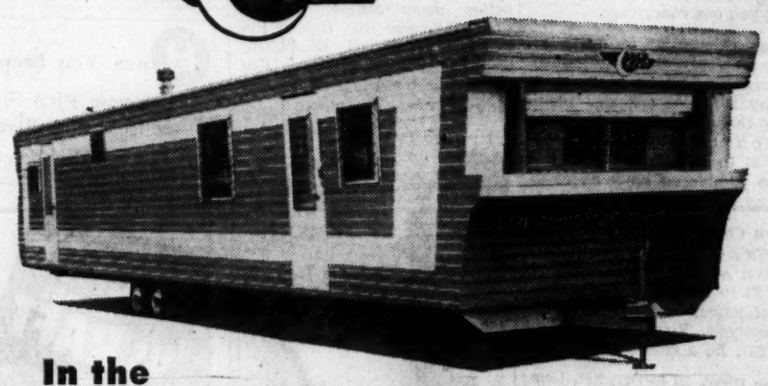

MILLY.

DEAR MILLY:

If your sister's "borrowing" has gone beyond that of ordinary family borrowing—in other words, if she, to put it flatly, is stealing, she needs help quickly. I believe that taking her to a competent psychiatrist might be the kindest thing your parents could do for her. You see, it doesn't have to become public information and it could save the whole family from a lot of grief and embarrassment in the future.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20). Ask for advice and come to a far better understanding. Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19). Realize that others are troubled. Be patient, kind, persevering. Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20). Look for fun and relaxation.

Double Wires Get Deputies' Wives Crossed

PARIS (AP)—Argentine President Arturo Frondizi's Paris visit got some French deputies in trouble with their wives.

Officials—desiring to warn the deputies that the presidential visit had postponed the Assembly session one hour—sent telegrams at dawn to their Paris and provincial addresses. Not knowing they had been sent to both addresses, a few wives immediately telephoned their Paris-based husbands to learn why they were not at home.

Deputy George Souchal lodged an official complaint in the name of his wife, against such errors.

Give Him to the Army

BOREHAM WOOD, England (UPI)—Police searched Friday for an early-bird bugler who has been blaring reveille every morning at 2:30 in this very sleepy town.

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

"The experiences of the President in the past weeks will weigh heavily in the forthcoming election, but the most astute politicians cannot foretell what the effect will be."—Editorial quote.

Dear Mister President, we've prayed . . . For you on every trip you've made . . . But you keep going here and there . . . And we've about run out of prayer . . . So, please look up some aerodrome . . . Get on a plane and come on home.

The most hard-bitten Democrat . . . Resents the kind of treatment that . . . You have received in recent weeks . . . But that occurs to one who seeks . . . To serve some high and noble cause . . . They'll even shoot at Santa Claus . . . And do some mean and nasty things . . . If they don't like the stuff he brings.

Of course, you've made a lot of friends . . . But every time the meeting ends . . . In arguments, and we're afraid . . . Unless there are some changes made . . . The chances are that we will be . . . An island in a lonely sea . . . So let us get it fortified . . . And seek some Greater Hand to guide . . . The country in the right direction . . . Also, in the next election.

Mrs. Onassis Gets Divorce In Alabama

NEW YORK (UPI) — Blonde Mrs. Athina (Tina) Onassis has been granted a quickie divorce in Alabama from wealthy Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, it was learned Friday.

The divorce put an end to a 13-year marriage which went on the rocks last September at the time Onassis took his celebrated Mediterranean cruise with fiery opera star Maria Callas.

A family source said Mrs. Onassis, a 29-year-old Greek shipping heiress who lives in New York, obtained the divorce in Alabama before she left for Paris earlier this month. She charged her 54-year-old husband with mental cruelty. The suit was not contested.

Mrs. Onassis made a final break from the millionaire shipowner when he went off cruising with Miss Callas, who then was married to Giovanni Battista Meneghini, a wealthy Italian. The cruise aboard Onassis' luxurious yacht created headlines, but both Onassis and Miss Callas denied there was any romance. They insisted they were just good friends, although they had been seeing more and more of each other throughout the summer.

Blind Girl Is Queen

LONDON (UPI)—Leslie Anne Daffin Friday ruled as a queen of the National Dance Teachers Assn. by winning a ballroom dancing contest. She is 7 years old and almost totally blind.

Lodge's Son Gets Worldwide Post

GENEVA (AP) — George C. Lodge, U. S. assistant secretary of labor for international affairs, was unanimously elected chairman of the 60-member governing body of the International Labor Organization Friday. Lodge, 32, son of Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. delegate to the United Nations, succeeds Sweden's Ernst Michanek for a one-year term.

WOMAN TO WOMAN

Pakistan Femmes 'Not So Keen' To Compete With Their Men

By BARBARA SOMERVILLE
Constitution Women's Editor

"A woman is a woman—wherever in the world she may live. There aren't so many differences as you might think."

As my sari-clad companion spoke it was difficult to realize that her home is half-way around the world and her soft-spoken English was learned at the Punjab University and not in an American public school.

Our women in Pakistan," she continued, "wish most to be good houswives and mothers. We are not so keen to compete with men or to do the work that men are doing. We are not so independent for our families are still the root of all our activities. But the role of women in my country is changing as it is in yours."

Smiling as intimately as any Western woman, Attiya Insyatallah chatted on saying that she has only been in the United States since September when she came with her husband, a Pakistan economist, to attend Boston University.

COMPILING BOOK

Two semesters later she received her master's degree in sociology and now is swinging around the country gathering information for a book she hopes to compile and publish when she returns to Pakistan in August.

"In my country," Attiya explained, "the home is the center of all our activities. Children are very much disciplined at home. They still seek advice and rely on guidance from parents. We do not have so much freedom of the sexes. Adolescent boys and girls don't meet each other—this is very important in our system. We do not have the problem of juvenile delinquency. Children and adolescents are still very much interested in the activities of the home."

I asked Attiya if marriages are still arranged.

PLANNED MARRIAGES

"Oh, yes," she replied. "But they are not planned blindly. It is quite traditional to marry one of your first, second or third cousins. Usually we have met and talked to our future husband, though at the time we didn't know we would marry.

"And, of course, there would be no marriage if the girl did not consent.

"My husband is related to my mother. I had known him before. I knew how he had been brought up. And we have had as happy a marriage as I could ask. Like you, our educated woman expects love, respect and companionship—but she expects love after marriage, not before.

"I am going to write my book about the things I see about you in your country that will help us in my country. Many things I have reflected on: 'Would this be suitable for us?' After having lived in the U.S. there is only one thing I see that I do not think the U.S. way is better than ours. And that is your whole system of marriage and helping children through adolescence. It would not be good for us."

Attiya explained that for centuries the Moslem women of her nation have hidden their beauty modestly behind their veils. But today, after only ten years of independence, the new nation in the cradle of an ancient civilization is offering women an opportunity to take an active part in its industrial zation.

COMPLETE RIGHTS

Legally and theoretically, the Pakistan woman has complete rights—to hold property, to divorce, to play an equal roie in marriage. She now has the freedom to take up any career for which she is sufficiently educated.

"Women in my country have made a great deal of progress," she said. "There are a few women in every field of work and there will be many more as our women become educated for careers."

Attiya feels that, aside from their desire to be successful homemakers, Pakistan women want most to increase their knowledge and participate in work outside their homes for the betterment of their country. Many of the women are working for charitable organizations without pay—many more than are working at careers.

BIRTH PROBLEM

"They are working in organizations such as the Family Planning Organization of Pakistan which recognizes the birth explosion problem. With the help of our government we are trying to help control this and many other problems—in every way we feel will effectively reach and educate the people.

"We have so much to do in many ways that the area of volunteer work is by far the largest field for Pakistan women today. And most of our educated women have domestic help so they have the leisure to devote to voluntter work.

From Atlanta Attiya will go to New Orleans and then to the southwest and west coast before returning to Pakistan.

"We have a lot to learn from you Americans," she said. "Whatever you have today, you have worked for it. And you still work hard today. We shouldn't look at what you have today, but the history behind you and the way you have strived to build your country.

"I think you are great humanists—you need a heart to want to help someone else, and I feel I have found that heart in you."

CUMMINGS CLAN GET POINTERS FROM WELL-KNOWN TV PHOTOGRAPHER
Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cummings; Patricia, Melinda and Bob Jr. Visit Here

Bob's Clan Braves Land, Sea, Air

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Television's best-known bachelor is a family man who prefers baby-sitting with the older children and leaves the business reins in the hands of his wife.

"Bob isn't much of a baby-sitter," said pretty Mary Cummings, wife of the boyish-looking veteran actor. "He thinks babies are to be admired, but his real joy in our children comes when they're old enough for him to teach them things."

Those "things" include swimming, driving a car, flying a plane.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings and three of their children—Bob Jr., 14; Melinda, 12, and Patricia, 8—are guests in Atlanta this week. Their other two children, Laurie, 5, and Tony, 3, were left in capable hands at the Cummings' Beverly Hills home.

FAMILY OF "DOERS"

The entire Cummings clan is a family of "doers," with swimming high on their list of favorite activities. Bob taught the youngsters to swim even before they could walk.

"Melinda could swim when she was nine months old," Bob recalled. "The others weren't far behind her. Of course, being so young, they'd forget how during the winter months. But they'd pick it right back up the following summer."

He also taught the older three how to drive. Melinda learned to drive when she was eight; now Patricia has mastered the mechanics of the automobile.

"They confine their driving to our property," Bob explained, "except on Sundays. Then we go out to Hughes Aircraft—the airport there is closed now—and they make good use of the runway."

TAUGHT SON FLYING

Bob Jr., a young edition of his dad, including crew-cut and engaging grin, has expanded his interests to include flying. The actor, who's been a pilot since 1929, was his son's instructor.

"Bob won't solo until he's 20," Mr. Cummings pointed out. "By then he should be a pretty good pilot."

The Cummings children are well-mannered youngsters, with seemingly limitless patience. They appeared oblivious to the hullabaloo surrounding them in the pressroom, where a host of celebrities talked to radio, TV and newspaper representatives from several cities. Patricia, Melinda and Bob Jr. answered questions in soft voices; smiled pleasantly when offering their hand to acknowledge introductions, as more people gathered during the afternoon.

Mrs. Cummings, a pert blonde with bright blue eyes, a warm smile and vivacious personality, declared: "I'm practically a Georgian." Born in Gaffney, S.C., she's the former Mary Elliott Daniels, and has numerous relatives in Atlanta and Georgia.

"When I was growing up," she recalled, "I spent at least two weeks in Atlanta with relatives every summer. I'm delighted that we've had this chance to bring the children here. We're all eager to come back."

Mary had successfully launched her own acting career in Hollywood when she met Bob. Under contract to MGM and Paramount, she appeared in some 16 films before her marriage.

HANDLES FINANCES

"Then we decided being a wife and mother was a full-time job," Mary said. "Later, I became Bob's financial producer—handling the business end of his career."

She's still his financial manager, handles the household budgeting, and does the family meal-planning and shopping.

"I plan menus a week ahead of time," she said, "and do the marketing at least twice a week."

Bob and Mary are both proper diet boosters. Bob, son of a Joplin, Mo., physician, has always been "extremely conscious of the importance of proper nutrition." They've organized the Cummings Research Foundation, which sponsors several university projects in nutrition research.

Bob and Mary have been happily married for 15 years, but they don't consider that much of a record, even for Hollywood personalities.

"We're like a lot of other happily married Hollywood couples," Mary declared. "People just hear more about the divorces. I suppose it's because happiness is not news. Only problems make headlines."

TO BE HONORED
Mrs. J. Ralph Ewing, National Safety Chairman of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Optometric Assn., will be honored at a luncheon Sunday, June 26, at the Biltmore Hotel. Mrs. John A. Hoffert, Grand Rapids, Mich., will preside at the affair, a feature of the 63rd annual congress of the AOA and AOA auxiliary.

Woman's Club Tea June 29 Is Postponed

The tea planned for Wednesday, June 29, to honor Mrs. Frank L. Picotte, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, has been cancelled.

Another date for the affair will be announced later. The original affair was set at the home of Mrs. Edward O. Snow 2771 Mabry Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hartley Jr. Plan Delayed Honeymoon in Hawaii

The John Hartleys Jr. will be off July 1 on a delayed honeymoon—a month's visit to Hawaii.

The pair was married on March 18, but at the time John was deep in his junior year at Emory medical school, so he couldn't leave.

Now that the year is behind him, he and Mrs. Hartley, the former Nellie Orme, are making wonderful plans for a vacation. They will fly to California and sail on the Lurline for Honolulu.

FRANCISCO COLONNA of Rome, Italy, arrived by plane from New York last night just in time to join his Atlanta hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adair, at the Symphony Appreciation Dinner held at the Hilton Inn. Mr. Colonna is a guest for the weekend at the Adair home on Argonne drive.

THE FIRST SON born June 20 at Piedmont Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Traylor Thiesen has been named George Traylor Jr. Mrs. Thiesen, the former Eleanor Johnston, and her son will return today to their home on Inman circle.

MRS. JOHN Y. HUBER of Gladwyn, Pa., and her children, Caroline and John Y. IV, are expected tomorrow for a visit to Mrs. Ralph P. Black at her home on Oakdale road. Mrs. Huber is the former Margaretta Black.

PATRICIA BALLANCE will be off by jet on Tuesday for her first visit to Europe. Upon arrival she will spend several days touring the British Isles with friends from Bryn Mawr College before going to Paris where she will study at the Sorbonne. Patricia will return to Atlanta in September.

MR. AND MRS. HARVEY D. CROW of Springfield, Mo., are the weekend guests of the William L. Hollands on Dellwood drive after a visit to Camp Rucker, Dothan, Ala., to see for the first time their small grandson, Curtis Crow, born two weeks ago to Lt. and Mrs. Lindsey H. Crow.

Next weekend Mr. and Mrs. Holland will go to Camp Rucker to visit their nephew, Lt. Crow, and Mrs. Crow, and to get acquainted with the baby.

DR. AND MRS. WILLIAM C. WATERS III and their children, Billy and Sally, leave today for a year's residence in Boston, Mass., where Dr. Waters has a fellowship at New England Center Hospital.

MR. AND MRS. CLIFFORD W. SCHMITZ and their son, John, arrive today from Kensington, Md., for a visit to Mrs. Schmitz' mother, Mrs. R. H. Roohan in Ansley Park.

LEON CAMPBELL, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Campbell, entertained at an alfresco party last night at the Campbell home on University drive in honor of his young cousin, Diana Lempesis of Charleston, S.C.

Leon invited 15 of his contemporaries to meet Diana.

SMALL ELLAINE PECK, 5-month-old daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Jordan B. Peck Jr., shared the spotlight with her mother, the former Maryly Van Leer, when the latter attended the national convention of the Society of Women Engineers held this month in Seattle.

A member of the society's executive committee, Mrs. Peck took her daughter along as her companion, and the baby sat in on all the top-level sessions. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer carried a charming picture of the pair to illustrate a feature story about them.

Currently working on a doctorate in chemical engineering at the University of Florida, Mrs. Peck has not found motherhood a detriment to her career. She has been able to sandwich her studies, research and teaching assignments between the births of her three small sons and her daughter. She is the wife of Capt. Peck, a Marine Corps legal officer.

THE CONTINENTAL COLONY CLUB will entertain at its annual President's Ball this evening at the clubhouse on Campbellton road. Honor guest will be John J. Fitzpatrick who was recently elected to head the club.

Other new officers are Brick Davis, vice president, and L. G. Davis, secretary-treasurer.

DR. AND MRS. HAROLD B. LEVIN returned yesterday after a week's visit to Nassau, during which the former was guest speaker at the Bahamas Medical Conference.

ATLANTA'S CONNIE ADAMS, who was chosen Miss Tall America of 1960 at the Tall Club's annual convention here this week, will be honor guest at the convention's Coronation Ball tonight at the Dinkler Plaza.

Convention chairman, Jack Groves, will be host for the ball. Connie was selected from 16 finalists from throughout the United States.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN T. HARRIS of Decatur are vacationing for a week at Coral Sands Cottages, Ormond Beach, Florida.

Wedding Set for Saturday

Ann Norton poses with her fiance, Charles R. Nisbet of Charlotte. Their wedding will be solemnized on Saturday at the Gordon Street Presbyterian Church. Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Martin entertained for the pair at a buffet supper held last night at their home on Blackland road. Both Miss Norton and her fiance have just graduated from the University of North Carolina. UNEMPLOYMENT CRITICAL

Force Mill Shutdowns Lumber Sales Fall Off,

Constitution State News Service

LOUISVILLE—Alarmed lumbermen reported Friday that a virtual standstill in lumber sales has caused a widespread shutdown of sawmills in south Georgia and South Carolina.

Operators said thousands of mill workers have been laid off of their jobs since the lumber trade plunged almost to a halt several weeks ago.

Causes remain a mystery to mill owners in this major lumber center.

"Suddenly there's no demand at all and no one seems to know why," Georgia and South Carolina mill owner Jack Hodges said here Friday. "It's a tragedy. We're losing our manpower to other jobs and workers who can't get jobs are suffering."

He said there are no prospects for a change in the market within at least 30 days.

Hodges and other mill operators here, some selling 20 truck loads of lumber on a weekly average a month ago, reported that shipments dropped to two and three a week, forcing the mills to close.

A few mills, Hodges said, have continued to operate on a part-time basis to keep employes on the job.

U.S. Begins Retrial Of Terrell Vote Suit

ALBANY—Retrial of the government's first suit charging discrimination against Negroes in registering to vote under the 1957 Civil Rights Act will get under way in federal court here Monday.

The trial, which has the Terrell County Board of Registrars as defendants, originally was scheduled for Americus.

Judge W. A. Bootle switched it Friday to Albany where there are more adequate facilities for large hearings.

Davis Goes to Chair Protesting Innocence

REIDSVILLE—A Meriwether County Negro, Herring Davis, protested to the end Friday that he was innocent, died in the electric chair at the state prison here. Davis was convicted of the July, 1959, murder of George Frank Hall in Greenvill.

Textile Union Attacks Anti-Handbill Law

MACON—U.S. Judg W. A. Bootle agreed Friday to hear in Macon Aug. 15 a petition of the Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, for an injunction against a 1944 Albany anti-handbill ordinance. At a pre-trial session, TWUA Atty. J. R. Goldwaite of Atlanta said Police Chief Laurie Pritchett has threatened to arrest any representative distributing union literature.

Pit Reverts To Weakness

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market settled back into its recent pattern of general weakness and posted a majority of declines for the fourth day this week. Thursday it had experienced a moderate net advance on a flurry of short covering linked with heavy rain and hail storms in parts of the principal corn and soybean producing areas. A telegraphic survey Friday by one of the major brokerage firms showed, however, that any damage to the crops probably was minor and not very widespread.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our husband and father, Charles James Simpson, who passed away 39 years ago today, June 25, 1921.

THE FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our precious husband, daddy, granddaddy and father-in-law, Mercer Henry Barnes, who died one year ago today, June 25, 1959.

What would we give to clasp his sweet ole hand
His happy face to see
To hear his sweet voice and see his sweet smile
That meant so much to us;
His smiling ways and precious face
Are pleasant to recall
He had a kindly word for all
And died beloved by all.

MRS. M. H. BARNES, Wife.
EDDIE, KATHERINE and JEANETTE, Children.

IF POP PULLS BIKE FROM HAT

SOME YOUNGSTERS expect Pop to wave a wand and pull a new bike right out of his magic heat, or, pull money out of thin air to pay for their wants. Yet, in many homes money for these extras comes only as a result of sacrifices. You're sure to agree, it would be better if your son could earn his own money to buy those extras. And he can with profits he'll earn as a newspaper carrier-salesman.
